THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

The Republicans Should Elect Miss Keyes as They Have Not Denied Her Competency.

The school board last night had another tussle on the election of principal of the training school. The republicans did not bring up the matter as they have expressed their willingness to let it rest as it is, but they are not ready to elect Miss Keyes as permanent principal. If the republicans cannot show that Miss Keyes is unqualified for the place, they have a right to vote for her. They have made no specific argument against her on the ground of inefficiency and their refusal to vote for her is, therefore, to say the least, suspicious.

If Miss Keyes is qualified for the position she should have it without reserve; if she is not qualified she should not be retained even temporarily, because the people want none but qualified teachers. If she was incompetent would the republicans elect her temporarily?

The republicans have not shown that she is disqualified, and on these grounds as well as upon the claims of the democrats in her behalf, it is fair to assume that she is qualified for the position and should be elected permanently.

The republicans can set themselves right at the next meeting by electing her permanent principal.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

The remains of Ethel M. Thompson arrived in this city yesterday from Charlestown and were interred in the Edson cemetery.

The body of George W. Beard was brought to this city from Chelsea this morning. The funeral occurred this afternoon and the remains were interred in the Edson cemetery. Services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Ramsden.

The funeral of the late Mary Ann Maguire took place this morning from her late home, 43 Abbott street, and was very largely attended. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church where a high mass of requiem was offered up for the repose of the soul of the deceased. Rev. Fr. McManus was celebrant, and T. F. Molloy directed the choir. The remains were enclosed in a beautiful black broadcloth casket. There were many beautiful floral offerings received from friends and relatives of the deceased. The bearers were: Timothy O'Dwyer, David Hogan, Martin Meagher, Bartholomew Ryan, Bartholomew Kane and Thomas Coleman. At the conclusion of the mass the cortege which was made up of a number of carriages proceeded to the Catholic cemetery, where the interment took place, the committal service being read by Rev. Fr. McManus.

OUR THEATRES.

BIJOU THEATRE.—"A Busy Day," presented by Mary Crandall and a clever company furnishes the amusement at the Bijou this week, and judging by the way the week opened there will be lots of fun. The play is a farce comedy, with just enough of a plot to bring it together, and fairly alive with bright songs and clever dances, abounding in the most ludicrous situations. It is designed wholly to create amusement, and is an entire success. The company is a very good one indeed, and is headed by Harry Crandall, the famous German dialect comedian, playing the part of "Peter Schultz" to perfection. Of the remainder of the company Miss Clara Pryce is a dashing and vivacious little woman whom the part of "Gracie Taffy" fits admirably. Frank Walsh is all right as "Dennis O'Rafferty," Frank Weinmann is very good as "O. B. Gord," Francis E. Fahey makes an excellent "Ups and Downs," and G. H. Atwood is a very clever "Balof Glay." A good burlesque on the opera "Falka" is given in addition and its bright tunes help the fun along. Every night this week with the usual matinees.

MUSIC HALL.—Tonight and during the remainder of the week, the stage of this popular theater will be occupied by the popular little favorite Miss Susie Howard. This will be the little lady's first appearance here in three years. She will be seen in the same play which has delighted Lowell as well as all of the large city audiences entitled "Nell the Waif." The company is a competent one. During the unravelling of the plot Miss Howard plays no less than six distinct characters—three boys and three girls—while the situations are quite startling. The piece abounds in specialties and side splitting comedy. Messrs. Thomas and Watson announce these offers this week on Tuesday and Friday evenings: Everyone holding a thirty cent seat will be presented with a cabinet photograph of Miss Eva Williams. On Thursday evening, Saturday matinee and evening the fortunate lady occupying a thirty cent seat will be presented with a new dress worth $20, made to order by the dressmakers' league.

OPERA HOUSE.—The play of Ole Olson billed for tonight possesses so many attractive features that it is well worth seeing. The singing and dancing are way above par, and Lottie Williams who plays Genie is a charming soubrette. Olaf Olsen who is with Ole is 28 years of age, weighs 48 pounds and is 28 inches in height.

FIRST COUNT

Only This to be Considered by the Jury.

GARVEY'S TRIAL NOW IN HANDS OF THE JURY.

Shea's Sentence for Repeating Holds Good.

The evidence in the Garvey case is all in and today arguments were made by the counsel for Mr. Garvey and by Mr. Weir for the government. Owing to the great number of law points involved and the objections raised and exceptions taken throughout the trial it is not probable that the case will be fully decided today.

The defence is very confident that the government's case is weak but should the adverse decision be rendered the case will be stubbornly fought in the Supreme court on questions of law.

Patrick H. Barry was called. He lived on Suffolk street. He didn't see Donaghue in May 1892, but saw him on the third of May, '93, having had a business transaction with him of which he made a note. He did not know where Donaghue lived at the time.

Garvey Testifies

Michael J. Garvey, the defendant was the next witness. He testified that he was born in Lowell and had lived here all his life. He was an assistant assessor in 1891-'92. He began to make his guide book in January taking copies of the streets, and property and polls assessed the year previous. He made his rounds and after that other names were added to the assessment books. After going his outside rounds he made up his record and finished it about June 9. After that he had nothing to do, and he went to Chicago where he remained a week. He came back and was down with malarial fever, and was in bed eight week. When he went back to work it was time to consider the tax bills.

Witness never touched the valuation books after July.

He knew Mr. and Mrs. Donaghue but did not know they lived in Bennett's court. He knew Thomas Donaghue as Charles Donaghue's son but did not know his given name. He never heard of Bennett's until the case was called.

Mr. Garvey then explained how he came to be at city hall on October 26. He couldn't remember the names of any persons whom he had dealings with that day. He had no recollection of the proceedings which were testified to by Mr. Hawes. Nor did he recollect going down to the registrars' office with the man described. Witness was shown the paper with the signature of Donaghue on it, and he had a faint recollection of the occasion when it was written, but did not remember going into the office with the man who wrote it.

Witness had nothing to do with putting names on the registrars' list.

He knew nothing of Donaghue's name being on the list until the young man's father told him that Thomas was out of town. When he heard this he made a minute of it and when he had a chance challenged his name.

Witness met Mr. Donaghue on another occasion and told him that he was going to challenge the boy's name. Donaghue smiled and told him there was going to be trouble over the matter and intimated that George Lawton was after him.

He replied to Mr. Donaghue that he had nothing to do with putting on his son's name.

Mr. Weir began the cross-examination by finding out how much campaigning he had done.

Witness said he had sometimes assisted his friends in their campaigns. He never got the names of newly registered each evening. He often inquired the number of clearly registered voters.

Mr. Garvey then explained the business he had been in, the manner of conducting campaigns, and his acquaintance in the ward.

Witness never called young Donaghue by the name of "Tom."

The attention of the witness was then taken up by the valuation book. He recognized his handwriting, and identified the the writing "Thomas F. Donaghue, 15 Bennett's court," on one of the pages; Marion street was added, but witness said the addition was not his writing.

He did not know Donaghue had two sons until one night he met Mr. Donaghue and his younger sons in the assessor's office.

He wanted to have the young man registered, but Mr. Donaghue objected. Witness could not remember what else Mr. Donaghue said to him.

Witness was asked to give a case where he had brought a man to be registered and was told to take him away, and cited as an instance the case of a drunken man.

Mr. Weir then asked a number of question about cases, shady attempts at registration, with which he tried to connect Mr. Garvey, and the latter answered them all clearly showing himself to be innocent of any "crooked" business.

The witness then spoke about Bennett's court which he said he never heard of until the case came up.

The cross examination at this point drifted into an argument regarding the conversations which witness had with Mr. Charles Donaghue.

Witness couldn't say whether or not the name of Thomas F. Donaghue was on the registered list for 1892, but he did know it was on there in 1893.

After a recess Mr. Garvey took the stand again and in reply to a question said that he knew that October 26th was a large day for registration as he looked it up.

Witness said he did not distribute tax bills in 1892 but he did in 1891. He was then shown the tax bills of Charles A Donaghue for the year of 1891 and he said he might have seen them. He did not distribute them as they belonged in precinct two and he distributed in precinct one. Mr. Weir offered the bills as evidence to show that the place was known as Bennett's court.

The bills were withdrawn by Mr. Weir after a short discussion as to whether or not they were material.

Other Witnesses.

William V. Meade testified that he was at city hall last fall for the purpose of showing candidates for registration where to go and what to do.

On Oct. 26, while he was looking for some men, a young man came up to him and said:

"Where can I get my name on the list?"

Witness responded: "Down stairs, what's your name?"

"Donaghue," replied the young man.

Witness took him to Mr. Garvey.

When the complaint against that name was made, witness remembered the occasion and said to Garvey:

"There's the name of the man that I brought to you."

Witness has known Mr. Garvey eight or ten years. He worked on registration and naturalization for the past three or four years.

A number of unimportant questions were answered by the witness.

The Government Again

The defence rested here and the government recalled Simon B. Harris to the stand. He was asked regarding the conversation to which Senator Brady testified, and Simon replied: "I never spoke to that man in my life."

Hawes Once More.

Mr. Hawes was called for the third time, and he could not remember any conversation in which Messrs. Garvey and Harris were participants.

City Clerk Dowd was also recalled, and he testified that 41 persons passed the registrars to have their names put on the voting list on the afternoon of October 26.

George A. Locke, assistant assessor of Ward Two, was called to testify what he knew about the Garvey-Harris conversation.

Witness said Garvey came in and spoke vulgar language. Witness asked him if he was addressing him, and Garvey said "No I'm addressing Mr. Harris."

Witness then said: "Mr. Harris was not there at the time."

City Clerk Dowd was then instructed to find out when John H. Donaghue of 9 Lagrange street was registered.

The Defendant.

Garvey took the stand again and said that the talk which he had with Mr. Harris was after he had gone into the room. He said that he went in there to assert his rights and not to allow men to be bulldozed by Mr. Harris.

Judge Lilley told Mr. Weir that if he thought it was so important that the residence should be proven to be Bennett's court, he would hear him, but he thought it was sufficient to prove a building known both to Mr. Hawes and the defendant.

The juries were then excused, and Mr. Weir continued discussing the matter. Mr. Burke claimed that 15 Bennett's court or the address is a part of the description of the man.

Lawyer Burke then considered the second count in the indictment. He said there was no rule of law tending to support it.

Bresnahan in Luck.

John F. Bresnahan in whose case of an alleged unnatural act, the jury disagreed, was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

Only One Count.

Mr. Burke's argument that "Bennett's court" figured in the case was successful as the third count in the indictment was quashed today. The case has gone to the jury on the first count, the second being nol prossed.

This is a big victory for the defence.

Shea Sentenced.

Daniel F. Shea who appealed from a sentence of five months in the house of correction for voting on another man's name, pleaded guilty this morning. D J. Donahue, Esq., argued for a lighter sentence but the court confirmed the sentence imposed in the lower court.

James McNulty, who appealed from sentence imposed in the police court, for disturbing the peace, pleaded guilty and was fined $10.

The Arguments Made.

The arguments on the strength of the third count in the indictment which related to the registrars were resumed.

Judge Lilley expressed his opinion of the matter very ably. He said that the proof in this count didn't support the allegation.

According to the statute if a man represents himself as some one else who is qualified to vote, he, not being qualified, he shall be punished. Then also if one man aids and abets another in representing himself as some one else he shall be punished.

"But," continued the court, "you charge Mr. Garvey with representing not himself but some one else as being another person."

Mr. Wier then was heard on the subject. He took the ground that in misdemeanors an accessory may be considered as a principal, and maintained that if Mr. Garvey who was present with the man made false representations concerning that man's name, the other man allowed him to do so and was an accessory to the crime, or vice versa.

Mr. Wier claimed that in a misdemeanor the acts of one are the acts of all.

"It is No Offence,"

said Judge Lilley, "for a man to go before the registrars and falsely represent some one else, but it is an offence for him to go before them and falsely represent himself.

"I will submit the first count to the jury with instructions concerning Bennett's court. Until last night, when I looked into the third count with great care I was inclined to think that Mr. Burke's contention was not well grounded, but since then I have changed my opinion, and I think the case ought to be submitted to the jury on

The First Count Alone.

"Any false representation to an official would be wrong, morally," said His Honor, in explanation of what he had said of the matter as above.

Mr. Burke's Argument.

At twenty minutes to eleven o'clock, or thereabouts, Mr. Burke began his argument for the defendant. He began very calmly and in a tone of voice which increased in volume as he went along.

After remarking on the great misfortune which a trial is to a man either innocent or guilty, Mr Burke explained the nature of the complaint and informed the jury that they must find that Mr. Garvey knew in his heart that he was a party to a fraud at the time when he appeared before the assessors, before they can find him guilty.

He then took up the evidence as given, and laid stress upon the fact that the government failed to offer any evidence to show that Garvey knew the man who represented himself as Thomas F. Donaghue or that he knew Thomas F. Donaghue so well that when he heard the name called he knew at once that he was not Thomas F. Donaghue.

Not a scintilla of evidence had been introduced on this point. They should also have shown that Mr. Garvey and Mr. Hawes had an understanding regarding the house at what was called 15 Bennett's court.

In the matter of the identity of Bennett's court he claimed that outside of the assessor's office it was not known by that name. The testimony of Charles F. Donaghue who said he lived at 15 Marion Street was a proof that the son did not live at 15 Bennett's court.

The argument consumed over an hour, and was listened to with rapt attention by all present, especially that part which referred to the redoubtable Simon B. Harris which was substantially as follows: "Mr. Harris said that when he asked the unknown what name he was giving, in the registrars office, the latter turned around and appeared excited. Who wouldn't appear excited at being called upon to face Simon B. Harris knowing who he was. I would want no better evidence that the man was not a resident of Lowell than to have him face this ex-police office of Dracut without trembling. Why Simon was brought over to Dracut as a scarecrow for the farmers. He frightened them so that they didn't keep him. Why when Simon in his war paint, and with his battle axe on his shoulder crossed the Central bridge and put his foot inside the limits of Dracut, the earth trembled for miles around. If you were to wake up a quiet farmer of Dracut in the middle of the night he would throw up his hands and cry "O Simon don't kill me."

Continuing, Mr. Burke said: "Mr. Harris and Mr. Garvey had some difficulty. Garvey crossed Simon's path and he must die. So Harris went to Boston, and here and there among the witnesses getting up the case, and interesting some of them in the court room not to get full.

"Even after this long and dreary trial when myself and the counsel for the government were tired out, Mr. Harris moved around between Mr. Lawton and Lawyer Wier rallying them up."

Mr. Burke concluded his remarks on Mr. Harris, insinuating that Mr. Harris was responsible in a great measure for this trial, due to bad feeling. He also poked sarcasm at Mr. Hawes.

The Government's Case

Shortly after 1.20 o'clock Mr. Wier began his argument. He argued its importance as bearing on the purity of the ballot. He then reviewed the evidence presented, among other matters, showing that Mr. Hawes did his duty rightly and not as Mr. Burke insinuated.

Referring to the possible inquiry that might be made concerning the tardiness in prosecuting the case, he said that there should have been two defendants in the case, and the case was not called immediately because the government wished to catch the other man.

"Garvey," said Mr. Wier," is the political boss of Ward One."

"Harris is an honest man, also," said Mr. Wier, "and it is no reflection on his character if when he goes into Dracut all the criminals in the town tremble."

Mr. Wier reviewed the testimony of nearly every witness referring repeatedly to Mr. Garvey's influence in Ward One. He asked the jury to consider the fact that Mr. Garvey didn't take any steps to have the name of Thomas F. Donaghue stricken from the list until he found out that they were after him.

Referring to the unsatisfactory manner in which young Donaghue testified he said that Garvey's friends in Ward One sympathized with him whether or not he is guilty. Young Donaghue knows them all and he was afraid that if he testified strongly against Garvey those friends and neighbors who are also friends of Donaghue would be mad at him.

Substantially the government claimed that an offence was committed; that Garvey was present and that he knew he was doing wrong.

The argument lasted 50 minutes.

Judge Lilley gave the charge to the jury at the opening of court this afternoon and the jury retired.

GAVE THEM EVERYTHING.

PRESS BOWLERS ACT GENEROUSLY TO BOSTON BOWLERS.

The Herald Sent Its Representative Team Up and it Was Warmly Received and Entertained Throughout a Friendly Meeting.

The crack bowlers of the brilliant journal of the Hub—the Herald—paid their first visit to the Spindle city yesterday. They came, not to inspect cotton mills or to admire the good looks of the mill girls; they came with blood in their eye to show the world that Lowell is not the only place on the universe where bowlers are raised and where the game is brought up to its highest standard. The Herald team was the very strongest which could be picked up among 500 odd attaches of the staff and office. It was a corking team headed by that stalwart and brainy advertising man, Jim Rice, and backed by the best bowling critic in New England, Mr. Lemon, the bowling editor.

The team and a good force of "rooters" came up on invitation of five Lowell newspaper men, who of late have bowled considerably in local tournaments.

The team, individually, was more than ordinarily strong, but through the uncertainty of the sport it dropped a game to the visitors with such a dull thud which is yet sounding up and down the town.

The Lowell Press team magnanimously presented the game to the visitors, on the principle that Jim Rice would have gone home broken hearted, and the Harmony quartet (which is a feature of the social side of the Herald office) would have disbanded on the spot.

The visitors were coaxed along all the time to put up a heavy score; the Lowell boys reserved their strength to the last, to show a genuine Lowell finish. It came very near being realized for in the eighth frame of the third string the Lowell team had overcome the existing lead of 51 pins, and forged ahead. The strikes and spares which had previously been bottled for the ninth and tenth frames failed to show up, however, and when five breaks in succession filled out the tenth box, against spares on the part of the visitors the folly of dilatory tactics was seen, and the Herald men went home flushed with a victory of 23 pins.

The visitors came up on the 3 p. m. train. They were taken to Les Miserables alleys where a large crowd awaited the match. After a short rest and refreshment the game commenced with Hon. C. D. Palmer referee for Lowell and Mr. Randall for Boston.

Of all the games bowled in Lowell or elsewhere none equalled for excitement, enthusiasm, ear splitting noises and uproar than the two opening strings. The "rooters" were supplied with big horns and rattles, and applause was given without discrimination or reserve, in fact the falling of pins could not be heard for the racket. Walter W. Johnson of the Merchants bank scored for Lowell. When "Chub" Lane appeared for the home team as a mascot the uproar was redoubled.

Of the Lowell men four did fair work while the fifth, Myers, couldn't bowl a little but, his score being the lowest he had ever bowled. To all the Lowell men there was more than their share of hard luck in breaks and missed spares while the visitors seemed to put up a strong front. Under ordinary circumstances the Lowell men ought to have dug a grave for the visitors but Dame Fortune said "not this time."

After the game and the visitors had been congratulated, the entire party repaired to the D. L. Page company where dinner was served. Later in the evening the rooms of the Press club were thrown open and the club extended its hospitality.

A very pleasant social hour was spent, and when it came train time the visitors were escorted to the depot to the tune of "The man who broke the bank." The flank of the marching column was reinforced by a hundred urchins who sized up the party as an out-of-town delegation of the Salvation army, and Mr. Patterson, who led the way, as a rival of Joe the Turk.

After cheers for the Herald and its crack bowlers, the visitors returned the compliment and the train pulled out of the station. The whole affair was informally gotten up and passed off very successfully.

In the junior contest at the Highland club last evening an exciting game was rolled by Teams Two and Six. The totals:

Team Two—Carter 307, Puffer 405, Webster 429, Pierce 385, Spofford 378; total 1904.

Team Six—Pierce 417, Hustwick 374, Whithed 382, Sargent 389, Falls 394; total 1955.

SCHOOL BOARD

It Transacted Important Business at Meeting.

DEADLOCK OVER TRAINING SCHOOL PRINCIPALSHIP.

City Council to be Asked for a New Bartlett School.

Before calling the meeting of the school board to order last evening Mayor Pickman requested that the members of the board be present as near the time appointed for the meeting as possible.

All members of the committee were present and the reading of the report of the previous meeting was dispensed with.

The military committee recommended that the battalion be allowed to go to Reading May 29.

The committee on penmanship and drawing recommended that certificates to teach penmanship be granted to Irving L. Hall and John J. Hunt. Both reports were accepted and certificates were granted to Messrs. Hunt and Hall.

Mr. Swapp for the committee on teachers and training school made the following recommendations which were adopted: that Miss Elizabeth A. Wilson be elected principal of the Dover street kindergarten; that Miss Sarah J. Sparks be chosen a teacher in the training school kindergarten, and that Miss Ellen Piper be transferred from the Pawtucketville to the Dover street kindergarten.

The rules were suspended and Miss Sparks was unanimously elected a teacher in the training school kindergarten.

The committee on teachers and training school also recommended that special certificate be granted to Miss Lizzie Emery, and that she be elected a teacher in the training school. There was some question as to the granting of the certificate to Miss Emery, but the motion passed.

On motion of Mr. Boulger, Miss Emery was confirmed as a temporary teacher at a salary of $800 per year.

James Mellen was granted a leave of absence as assistant teacher in the High school, and Mr. Harmon was appointed to take his place. Miss Bennett of the Highland school was also granted a leave of absence for the remainder of the term.

Supt. Whitcomb recommended that the board ask the city council to erect a new building on the site of the Bartlett school, another in Centralville, in the vicinity of the Hildreth cemetery, and another in Middlesex Village. Mr. Whitcomb was instructed to make the request of the city council.

Mr. Gallagher suggested that the superintendent take care that pupils in the kindergartens be not compelled to study so as to injure their delicate minds.

Mr. Coburn was granted permission to open a kindergarten in Pawtucketville.

The matter of teaching physical culture in the grammar schools was referred.

The mayor suggested that care be taken in the selection of teachers for the evening schools.

Mr. Coburn replied that hereafter the committee intended to adhere strictly to the rules relative to the matter.

Mr. Gallagher spoke of the objections likely to arise in the legislature as to the location of the normal school in this city. He suggested a rule, providing for the admission of normal school students and graduates to the training school.

On motion of Mr. Greene the rule was referred to the committee on teachers and training school.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Hall of Worcester for his address at the recent dedicatory exercises at the high school and it was decided to send him a check of $25.

Mr. Boulger moved that Miss Keyes be confirmed as principal of the training school, and spoke in support of his motion, citing the excellence of the work of Miss Keyes.

Dr. Lathrop spoke against the motion, and said he would vote for no one but a college graduate.

Mr. Boulger asked Dr. Lathrop if he was satisfied with Miss Dewey's work, but Dr. Lathrop declined to answer.

Mr. Harrigan moved as an amendment to Mr. Boulger's motion that Miss Keyes be transferred from the position of first assistant to that of principal of the training school.

Another amendment was offered that Miss Keyes be elected principal. Both amendments and the original motion were ruled out of order.

A lengthy discussion followed, relative to the ruling, it being claimed that Miss Keyes' case is similar to that of Miss Wilson, who obtained a transfer earlier in the evening. In the midst of the discussion Dr. Lathrop moved to adjourn, but the motion was defeated.

Mr. Swapp said there was no objection in Miss Wilson's case. In the present case there is objection.

The matter of the election of Miss Keyes was laid over till the next meeting.

Mayor Pickman said that the position of principal of the training school was a very important one, and he believed in getting the best person for the place. He believed Miss Keyes was an excellent teacher, but he also desired to get the best qualified person for the place.

Mr. Boulger reported for the committee appointed to consider the quality of water used for drinking purposes in the public schools.

The mayor and Dr. Lathrop were added to the committee, which was given full power.

A motion to ballot for assistant teacher of penmanship in the public schools was lost.

Mr. McNabb resigned the chairmanship of the manual training committee to Mr. Gallagher.

The board then adjourned.

Spring Is With Us.

A barefooted newsboy came into THE SUN office this noon. When asked if he felt the cold, he said no.

SCHOOL BOARD

It Transacted Important Business at Meeting.

DEADLOCK OVER TRAINING SCHOOL PRINCIPALSHIP.

City Council to be Asked for a New Bartlett School.

Before calling the meeting of the school board to order last evening Mayor Pickman requested that the members of the board be present as near the time appointed for the meeting as possible.

All members of the committee were present and the reading of the report of the previous meeting was dispensed with.

The military committee recommended that the battalion be allowed to go to Reading May 29.

The committee on penmanship and drawing recommended that certificates to teach penmanship be granted to Irving L. Hall and John J. Hunt. Both reports were accepted and certificates were granted to Messrs. Hunt and Hall.

Mr. Swapp for the committee on teachers and training school made the following recommendations which were adopted: that Miss Elizabeth A. Wilson be elected principal of the Dover street kindergarten; that Miss Sarah J. Sparks be chosen a teacher in the training school kindergarten, and that Miss Ellen Piper be transferred from the Pawtucketville to the Dover street kindergarten.

The rules were suspended and Miss Sparks was unanimously elected a teacher in the training school kindergarten.

The committee on teachers and training school also recommended that special certificate be granted to Miss Lizzie Emery, and that she be elected a teacher in the training school. There was some question as to the granting of the certificate to Miss Emery, but the motion passed.

On motion of Mr. Boulger, Miss Emery was confirmed as a temporary teacher at a salary of $800 per year.

James Mellen was granted a leave of absence as assistant teacher in the High school, and Mr. Harmon was appointed to take his place. Miss Bennett of the Highland school was also granted a leave of absence for the remainder of the term.

Supt. Whitcomb recommended that the board ask the city council to erect a new building on the site of the Bartlett school, another in Centralville, in the vicinity of the Hildreth cemetery, and another in Middlesex Village. Mr. Whitcomb was instructed to make the request of the city council.

Mr. Gallagher suggested that the superintendent take care that pupils in the kindergartens be not compelled to study so as to injure their delicate minds.

Mr. Coburn was granted permission to open a kindergarten in Pawtucketville.

The matter of teaching physical culture in the grammar schools was referred.

The mayor suggested that care be taken in the selection of teachers for the evening schools.

Mr. Coburn replied that hereafter the committee intended to adhere strictly to the rules relative to the matter.

Mr. Gallagher spoke of the objections likely to arise in the legislature as to the location of the normal school in this city. He suggested a rule, providing for the admission of normal school students and graduates to the training school.

On motion of Mr. Greene the rule was referred to the committee on teachers and training school.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Hall of Worcester for his address at the recent dedicatory exercises at the high school and it was decided to send him a check of $25.

Mr. Boulger moved that Miss Keyes be confirmed as principal of the training school, and spoke in support of his motion, citing the excellence of the work of Miss Keyes.

Dr. Lathrop spoke against the motion, and said he would vote for no one but a college graduate.

Mr. Boulger asked Dr. Lathrop if he was satisfied with Miss Dewey's work, but Dr. Lathrop declined to answer.

Mr. Harrigan moved as an amendment to Mr. Boulger's motion that Miss Keyes be transferred from the position of first assistant to that of principal of the training school.

Another amendment was offered that Miss Keyes be elected principal. Both amendments and the original motion were ruled out of order.

A lengthy discussion followed, relative to the ruling, it being claimed that Miss Keyes' case is similar to that of Miss Wilson, who obtained a transfer earlier in the evening. In the midst of the discussion Dr. Lathrop moved to adjourn, but the motion was defeated.

Mr. Swapp said there was no objection in Miss Wilson's case. In the present case there is objection.

The matter of the election of Miss Keyes was laid over till the next meeting.

Mayor Pickman said that the position of principal of the training school was a very important one, and he believed in getting the best person for the place. He believed Miss Keyes was an excellent teacher, but he also desired to get the best qualified person for the place.

Mr. Boulger reported for the committee appointed to consider the quality of water used for drinking purposes in the public schools.

The mayor and Dr. Lathrop were added to the committee, which was given full power.

A motion to ballot for assistant teacher of penmanship in the public schools was lost.

Mr. McNabb resigned the chairmanship of the manual training committee to Mr. Gallagher.

The board then adjourned.

FIRST COUNT

Only This to be Considered by the Jury.

GARVEY'S TRIAL NOW IN HANDS OF THE JURY.

Shea's Sentence for Repeating Holds Good.

The evidence in the Garvey case is all in and today arguments were made by the counsel for Mr. Garvey and by Mr. Weir for the government. Owing to the great number of law points involved and the objections raised and exceptions taken throughout the trial it is not probable that the case will be fully decided today.

The defence is very confident that the government's case is weak but should the adverse decision be rendered the case will be stubbornly fought in the Supreme court on questions of law.

The case as resumed yesterday afternoon was as follows:

City Clerk Michael J. Dowd was the next witness called. He had with him a number of large books.

An ordinance relating to the power of assistant assessors was introduced and Mr. Burke objected to it, as it gave the assistant assessors power which they did not have.

After a discussion which lasted over thirty minutes the witness was examined.

He testified that by virtue of his office as city clerk he was a member of the board of registrars and had with him their record books.

Witness testified that he had had name stricken off on the record books. The date given was Dec. 8. It was admitted by the defence that this name was not voted on. The defendant also admitted having signed the complaints to have Donaghue's name stricken from the list.

The list of qualified voters for 1892 was called for by Mr. Weir, but Mr. Burke's objection to their admission was sustained.

On cross examination Mr. Dowd said that about 31 names were stricken from the list on Dec. 8 some dozen or more on complaint of Mr. Garvey. The witness stated the number of voters in Ward One and stated that he had seen Bennett's court on the assessors' returns only. He had heard of Callahan's yard which was situated in the same vicinity.

Mr. Weir again asked that the voting lists be introduced and another argument ensued with the result as before.

After a recess of five minutes Mr. Charles Donaghue, father of the Thomas F., was recalled to the stand, and he testified to a conversation with Mr. Garvey.

He told Mr. Garvey that "they were after him."

Garvey asked at the time who was meant by "they." Witness then said he replied that George F. Lawton (chairman of republican city committee) was after him.

Garvey replied that he hadn't done anything and didn't care for Lawton.

Mr. Weir announced that this ended the government case.

The Defence Begins.

The witnesses for the defence were called and there were quite a number of them.

The first witness was Senator Peter J. Brady.

He was asked to state a conversation between Mr. Harris and Mr. Garvey. Mr. Harris told a man he couldn't be assessed and Mr. Garvey told him he had no right to do it. An argument followed during which they did considerable swearing. The greater part of this testimony was ruled out.

Mr. Arthur Smith who lived about 50 feet from 15 Marion street testified that Mr. Charles Donaghue lived in a sort of court on Marion street. He was asked if that was called Bennett's court, and Mr. Weir objected. An argument resulted. Mr. Burke claimed that a government witness swore that Donaghue lived in Bennett's court and that the defendant had the right to rebut this evidence. Witness had lived on Marion street for about 25 years. The court in question he has always known as Donohue's yard, and never had he heard it called Bennett's court until this case came up. The name "Donohue's yard" was given to it when Gen. M. T. Donohue's father lived there and owned considerable property in the yard.

On cross-examination, Mr. Weir asked the witness if he had spoken with Garvey about the case.

Dennis J. Breen testified that he is a police officer in the city of Lowell. He has patrolled the beat on which Mr. Donaghue lived for two months and had lived in the vicinity for about 20 years. He had never heard the court called Bennett's until the case was called in the police court.

Daniel Murphy testified that he lived at the corner of Broadway and Suffolk street about 100 feet from where Mr. Donaghue lived. He never heard of Bennett's court before this morning.

Peter O'Donnell, a police officer, residing on Merrimack street, testified that he had patrolled that beat and had never heard the court called Bennett's.

Nathan D. Pratt, lawyer, and a principal assessor since 1886 was the next witness. He was asked if he had ever heard of Bennett's court but Mr. Weir objected to the question, and it was excluded. Witness said Mr. Garvey came in there frequently with candidates for assessment.

A number of questions which the witness was asked by Mr. Burke were objected to by Mr. Weir, and in most of the cases the objections were sustained.

When witness was asked if any instructions were given to assistant assessors relative to any irregularities or suspicious actions, Mr. Weir raised objections to the question. The witness answered that instructions were given the assistants to note and report any irregularities.

Witness had no recollection of having heard Mr. Hawes report the case.

When court came in yesterday afternoon the attendance was not quite as large as on the former days.

Patrick H. Barry was the first witness called. He lived on Suffolk street. He didn't see Donaghue in May 1892, but saw him on the third of May, '92, having had a business transaction with him of which he made a note. He did not know where Donaghue lived at the time.

Garvey Testifies.

Michael J. Garvey, the defendant was the next witness. He testified that he was born in Lowell and had lived here all his life. He was an assistant assessor in 1891-'92. He began to make his guide book in January taking copies of the streets, and property and polls assessed the year previous. He made his rounds and after that other names were added to the assessment books. After going his outside rounds he made up his record and finished it about June 9. After that he had nothing to do, and he went to Chicago where he remained a week. He came back and was down with malarial fever, and was in bed eight week. When he went back to work it was time to consider the tax bills.

Witness never touched the valuation books after July.

He knew Mr. and Mrs. Donaghue but did not know they lived in Bennett's court. He knew Thomas Donaghue as Charles Donaghue's son but did not know his given name. He never heard of Bennett's until the case was called.

Mr. Garvey then explained how he came to be at city hall on October 26. He couldn't remember the names of any persons whom he had dealings with that day. He had no recollection of the proceedings which were testified to by Mr. Hawes. Nor did he recollect going down to the registrars' office with the man described. Witness was shown the paper with the signature of Donaghue on it, and he had a faint recollection of the occasion when it was written, but did not remember going into the office with the man who wrote it.

Witness had nothing to do with putting names on the registrars' list.

He knew nothing of Donaghue's name being on the list until the young man's father told him that Thomas was out of town. When he heard this he made a minute of it and when he had a chance challenged his name.

Witness met Mr. Donaghue on another occasion and told him that he was going to challenge the boy's name. Donaghue smiled and told him there was going to be trouble over the matter and intimated that George Lawton was after him.

He replied to Mr. Donaghue that he had nothing to do with putting on his son's name.

Mr. Weir began the cross-examination by finding out how much campaigning he had done.

Witness said he had sometimes assisted his friends in their campaigns. He never got the names of newly registered each evening. He often inquired the number of clearly registered voters.

Mr. Garvey then explained the business he had been in, the manner of conducting campaigns, and his acquaintance in the ward.

Witness never called young Donaghue by the name of "Tom."

The attention of the witness was then taken up by the valuation book. He recognized his handwriting, and identified the the writing "Thomas F. Donaghue, 15 Bennett's court," on one of the pages; Marion street was added, but witness said the addition was not his writing.

He did not know Donaghue had two sons until one night he met Mr. Donaghue and his younger sons in the assessor's office.

He wanted to have the young man registered, but Mr. Donaghue objected. Witness could not remember what else Mr. Donaghue said to him.

Witness was asked to give a case where he had brought a man to be registered and was told to take him away, and cited as an instance the case of a drunken man.

Mr. Weir then asked a number of questions about cases, shady attempts at registration, with which he tried to connect Mr. Garvey, and the latter answered them all clearly showing himself to be innocent of any "crooked" business.

The witness then spoke about Bennett's court which he said he never heard of until the case came up.

The cross examination at this point drifted into an argument regarding the conversations which witness had with Mr. Charles Donaghue.

Witness couldn't say whether or not the name of Thomas F. Donaghue was on the registered list for 1892, but he did know it was on there in 1893.

After a recess Mr. Garvey took the stand again and in reply to a question said that he knew that October 26th was a large day for registration as he looked it up.

Witness said he did not distribute tax bills in 1892 but he did in 1891. He was then shown the tax bills of Charles A. Donaghue for the year of 1891 and he said he might have seen them. He did not distribute them as they belonged in precinct two and he distributed in precinct one. Mr. Weir offered the bills as evidence to show that the place was known as Bennett's court.

The bills were withdrawn by Mr. Weir after a short discussion as to whether or not they were material.

Other Witnesses.

William V. Meade testified that he was at city hall last fall for the purpose of showing candidates for registration where to go and what to do.

On Oct. 26, while he was looking for some men, a young man came up to him and said:

"Where can I get my name on the list?"

Witness responded: "Down stairs, what's your name?"

"Donaghue," replied the young man.

Witness took him to Mr. Garvey.

When the complaint against that name was made, witness remembered the occasion and said to Garvey:

"There's the name of the man that I brought to you."

Witness has known Mr. Garvey eight or ten years. He worked on registration and naturalization for the past three or four years.

A number of unimportant questions were answered by the witness.

The Government Again.

The defence rested here and the government recalled Simon B. Harris to the stand. He was asked regarding the conversation to which Senator Brady testified, and Simon replied: "I never spoke to that man in my life."

Hawes Once More.

Mr. Hawes was called for the third time, and he could not remember any conversation in which Messrs. Garvey and Harris were participants.

City Clerk Dowd was also recalled, and he testified that 41 persons passed the registrars to have their names put on the voting list on the afternoon of October 26.

George A. Locke, assistant assessor of Ward Two, was called to testify what he knew about the Garvey-Harris conversation.

Witness said Garvey came in and spoke vulgar language. Witness asked him if he was addressing him, and Garvey said "No I'm addressing Mr. Harris."

Witness then said: "Mr. Harris was not there at the time."

City Clerk Dowd was then instructed to find out when John H. Donaghue of 9 Lagrange street was registered.

The Defendant

Garvey took the stand again and said that the talk which he had with Mr. Harris was after he had gone into the room. He said that he went in there to assert his rights and not to allow men to be bulldozed by Mr. Harris.

Judge Lilley told Mr. Weir that if he thought it was so important that the residence should be proven to be Bennett's court, he would hear him, but he thought it was sufficient to prove a building known both to Mr. Hawes and the defendant.

The juries were then excused, and Mr. Weir continued discussing the matter. Mr. Burke claimed that 15 Bennett's court or the address is a part of the description of the man.

Lawyer Burke then considered the second count in the indictment. He said there was no rule of law tending to support it.

Bresnahan in Luck.

John F. Bresnahan in whose case of an alleged unnatural act, the jury disagreed, was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

Only One Count.

Mr. Burke's argument that "Bennett's court" figured in the case was successful as the third count in the indictment was quashed today. The case has gone to the jury on the first count, the second being not pressed.

This is a big victory for the defence.

Shea Sentenced.

Daniel F. Shea who appealed from a sentence of five months in the house of correction for voting on another man's name, pleaded guilty this morning. D. J. Donahue, Esq., argued for a lighter sentence but the court confirmed the sentence imposed in the lower court.

James McNulty, who appealed from sentence imposed in the police court, for disturbing the peace, pleaded guilty and was fined $10.

GAVE THEM EVERYTHING.

PRESS BOWLERS ACT GENEROUSLY TO BOSTON BOWLERS.

The Herald Sent Its Representative Team Up and It Was Warmly Received and Entertained Throughout a Friendly Meeting.

The crack bowlers of the brilliant journal of the Irish—the Herald—paid their first visit to the Spindle city yesterday. They came, not to inspect cotton mills or to admire the good looks of the mill girls; they came with blood in their eye to show the world that Lowell is not the only place on the universe where bowlers are raised and where the game is brought up to its highest standard. The Herald team was the very strongest which could be picked up among 500 odd attaches of the staff and office. It was a corking team headed by that stalwart and brainy advertising man, Jim Rice, and backed by the best bowling critic in New England, Mr. Lemon, the bowling editor.

The team and a good force of "rooters" came up on invitation of five Lowell newspaper men, who of late have bowled considerably in local tournaments.

The team individually, was more than ordinarily strong, but through the uncertainty of the sport it dropped a game to the visitors with such a dull thud which is yet sounding up and down the town.

The Lowell Press team magnanimously presented the game to the visitors, on the principle that Jim Rice would have gone home broken hearted, and the Harmony quartet (which is a feature of the social side of the Herald office) would have disbanded on the spot.

The visitors were coaxed along all the time to put up a heavy score; the Lowell boys reserved their strength to the last, to show a genuine Lowell finish. It came very near being realized for in the eighth frame of the third string the Lowell team had overcome the existing lead of 61 pins, and forged ahead. The strikes and spares which had previously been bottled for the ninth and tenth frames failed to show up, however, and when five breaks in succession filled out the tenth box, against spares on the part of the visitors the folly of dilatory tactics was seen, and the Herald men went home flushed with a victory of 23 pins.

The visitors came up on the 3 p. m. train. They were taken to Les Miserables alleys where a large crowd awaited the match. After a short rest and refreshment the game commenced with Hon. C. D. Palmer referee for Lowell and Mr. Randall for Boston.

Of all the games bowled in Lowell or elsewhere none equalled for excitement, enthusiasm, ear splitting noises and uproar than the two opening strings. The "rooters" were supplied with big horns and rattles, and applause was given without discrimination or reserve, in fact the falling of pins could not be heard for the racket. Walter W. Johnson of the Merchants bank scored for Lowell. When "Chris" Lane appeared for the home team as a mascot the uproar was redoubled.

Of the Lowell men four did fair work while the fifth, Myers, couldn't bowl a little bit, his score being the lowest he had ever bowled. To all the Lowell men there was more than their share of hard luck in breaks and missed spares while the visitors seemed to put up a strong front. Under ordinary circumstances the Lowell men ought to have dug a grave for the visitors but Dame Fortune said "not this time."

After the game and the visitors had been congratulated, the entire party repaired to the D. L. Page company where dinner was served. Later in the evening the rooms of the Press club were thrown open and the club extended its hospitality.

A very pleasant social hour was spent, and when it came train time the visitors were escorted to the depot to the tune of "The man who broke the bank." The flank of the marching column was reinforced by a hundred urchins who sized up the party as an out-of-town delegation of the Salvation army, and Mr. Patterson, who led the way, as a rival of Joe the Turk.

After cheers for the Herald and its crack bowlers, the visitors returned the compliment and the train pulled out of the station. The whole affair was informally gotten up and passed off very successfully.

In the junior contest at the Highland club last evening an exciting game was rolled by Teams Two and Six. The totals:

Team Two—Carter 307, Puffer 405, Webster 429, Pierce 385, Spofford 378; total 1961.

Team Six—Pierce 417, Hustwick 374, Whitbed 382, Sargent 389, Falls 394; total 1955.

OUR THEATRES.

BIJOU THEATRE.—"A Busy Day," presented by Mary Crandall and a clever company furnishes the amusement at the Bijou this week, and judging by the way the week opened there will be lots of fun. The play is a farce comedy, with just enough of a plot to bring it together, and fairly alive with bright songs and clever dances, abounding in the most ludicrous situations. It is designed wholly to create amusement, and is an entire success. The company is a very good one indeed, and is headed by Harry Crandall, the famous German dialect comedian, playing the part of "Peter Schultz" to perfection. Of the remainder of the company Miss Clara Pryor is a dashing and vivacious little woman whom the part of "Gracie Taffy" fits admirably. Frank Walsh is all right as "Dennis O'Rafferty." Frank Wehrmann is very good as "O. B. Gord," Francis E. Fahey makes an excellent "Ups and Downs," and G. H. Atwood is a very clever "Baldof Glay." A good burlesque on the opera "Falka" is given in addition and its bright tunes help the fun along. Every night this week with the usual matinees.

TOWN MEETINGS

Lively Ones at Dracut and Tewksbury.

FARMERS KICK OVER ITEMS IN THE WARRANTS.

But All Finally Agree on Town Officers.

Dracut went republican.

Dracut went for license.

Yesterday was town meeting day, and the townsmen turned out in force. One generally expects to be favored with a flood of eloquence at Dracut's town meeting, but yesterday the loquacious ones either stayed at home or got no chance to speak.

There were thirteen articles in the warrant, and the only one dismissed was article 12, which called for the establishment of a system of sewerage at the Navy Yard.

It is claimed that before money can be expended for a sewerage system an act of the legislature must be adopted.

The officers of the meeting were: Edward A. Stevens, moderator; Eben T. Fox and Daniel D. Fox, ballot clerks, Geo. F. Sparks and Clement A. Hamblett, tellers; Chas. H. Jacques, deputy ballot clerk.

The town lists of jurors were accepted as follows:

Frank L. Crosby, Bernice Parker, John C. Wiggin, Almon Richardson, Fred A. Fox, Wm. Tyrell, Jr., Granville Coburn, Josiah R. Millikan, Phineas Richardson, Charles Richardson, W. Peabody, Geo. R. Fox, Daniel D. Fox, Warren C. Hamblett, Simon E. Young, Thomas H. Council, Robert Mills, Wm. H. Upham, Michael Whelton, Roswell S. Fox, Edwin Hovey, Geo. W. Varnum, M. L. Bassett.

The appropriations were as follows—Schools, $6500; repairing highways, $3000; lighting streets, $500; current expenses, $1100; police, $300; new seats for schools Nos. 3 and 4, $300; removing ledge near George Kelley's, $200; widening stone bridge over Beaver brook, $600; music in public schools, $500.

It was voted to charge 6 per cent. interest on all taxes unpaid after Dec. 1, 1894, and to pay 4½ per cent. for collection.

The town report showed that the cost of running the several departments of the town last year was as follows:

Schools, $5461.86; repairing school houses, $343.39; transportation of scholars, $503.05; roads and bridges, $3418.50; widening Lakeview avenue, $723.42, of which the railroad company paid $360.02; town farm road, $200; Nashua road, $792.20; widening Mammoth road, $609.58; miscellaneous road expenses, $808.92; out of $981.15 for lighting there is a balance of $451.55; out of $786.65 for police there is a balance of $281.58; new street lights $160; improving burying grounds, $276.35; miscellaneous expenses, $547.46; salaries, $1207.72; the relief of poor in almshouses cost $772 and out of door relief $334.80. Soldiers' relief, $35, state aid $100, military aid, $186.

Out of $17,599.89 for current expenses there is an unexpended balance of $8,778.41.

The taxes collected amounted to $17,630.69 and the balance uncollected Feb. 1 was $8,270.02.

The total indebtedness of the town Feb. 1 was $7,621.01; valuation of real estate, $1,497,050; personal, $212,258; total, $1,709,308.

The amount of taxes assessed was $18,702.03, including $28 in poll taxes. The rate of taxation $10.25 per $1000.

The election of town officers was very close and exciting. At 5.45 when the polls closed it was found that 408 names, out of a total registration of 472 had been voted upon.

Roswell S. Fox was the only candidate for treasurer and received every vote cast for that office—280.

For town clerk, Chas. E. McCarthy, dem., received 194 votes; Guyon M. Hall, rep., 192.

Oliver J. Coburn, Frank L. Hill and Charles E. Jones, reps., were elected selectmen, assessors and overseers of the poor, over John G. Hubbard, John T. Sparks and Michael Whelton democrats.

The three republican candidates, George R. Fox, Fred B. Hill and Edward A. Stevens were elected to the school committee, defeating the democratic candidates, Joseph E. Kennedy, George Otley and Clarence E. Wheeler.

Franklin P. Fox was the candidate of both parties for constable and collector of taxes, and was elected.

The contest for auditor was between Granville Coburn, rep., and John H. Ames, dem. The former received 191 to 181 for Ames.

The town voted in favor of license 190 to 171.

The other officers chosen were: Fire wardens, James Duffy, L. Stephen Collins, Geo. W. Ducey. Field drivers, Geo. F. Tucker, James Frye, Rockwood D. Coburn, Rockwood D. Snow, Prescott L. Jones, David D. Fox, Geo. W. Varnum, Geo. Otley, James M. Coburn.

Down In Tewksbury.

Tewksbury's town meeting was held yesterday, and was largely attended. Josiah Clark was almost unanimously chosen moderator. He has attended every town meeting for the past fifty years, with one exception.

Before the noon intermission the town officers were elected as follows: Selectmen, assessors and overseers of the poor, Frank H. Farmer, chairman; George E. Marshall, Frank A. Fitzgerald; town clerk, John H. Chandler; town treasurer, Frank H. Farmer; collector of taxes, Milton Austin; school committee, Albert S. Moore, chairman; Gideon H. Candee, secretary, J. E. French; trustees of the public library, J. C. Kittredge, Frank A. Fitzgerald, Helen Eastman, Rev. James Alexander, Albert J. Trull, Anna Coggin; superintendent of schools, Junius C. Knowlton; superintendent of streets, Porter Mears; auditor, William H. Lee.

Dinner was served at the Congregational church by the ladies' aid society for which a vote of thanks was tendered them.

The usual town officers and committee reports were adopted with the exception of that of Enoch Foster, who reported on the condition of the Long fund.

Joshua Daniels urged the appointment of a committee to investigate the matter. A committee consisting of Messrs. Benjamin Spaulding, John Dane, John H. Chandler was appointed to look into the fund.

In the absence of Chairman Pickering of the high school committee the report was read by Enoch Foster. Mr. Daniels wanted Dickinson if the building leaked. He was told it had been repaired. He then wished to know if the contractor hadn't failed and if the town was liable.

A short discussion followed after which Michael Smith arose and asked the gathering not to be dictated to by men who had no more brains than a Dublin dancing master.

Appropriations were then considered. It was voted to appropriate $3000 for incidentals and $8500 for highways. After a lively discussion it was voted that the town should not carry the school children from the east and south districts to the center school.

The appropriation of $7500 for schools and school houses was made almost unanimously.

The next business was to see if the town would vote to withdraw from its alliance with the towns of North Reading, Tyngsboro and Dracut, regarding the superintendency of schools, and vote to discontinue the employment of a superintendent for the schools of this town. After a lengthy discussion a ballot was taken as follows: Yeas 42, nays 120.

The treasurer was authorized to borrow on the town's credit, upon approval by the selectmen, $40,000.

The question of licenses resulted: yeas 8, nays 77.

It was voted to appropriate $75 for the observance of Decoration day.

An appropriation of $700 for a sewer was made.

The meeting then adjourned.

Tyngsboro Town Meetings.

The first town meeting at Tyngsboro dissolved after refusing to accept the report of the committee appointed Jan. 31. The second town meeting dissolved after refusing to place the school houses in the hands of a committee other than the school committee.

Samuel J. Drain, aged 7 years, son of John Drain, who keeps a variety store on Gorham street, had been missing from his home on Kinsman street since yesterday morning. Two boys claimed to have seen him. One said he saw the boy fall into Hale's brook while the other saw him near the Fair Grounds.

The Body Found.

At day break the body of the little fellow was found in the canal in the Bleachery yard which runs into Hale's brook near the falls on Newhall street, confirming the story told by another little chap, yesterday.

The little boy started from home to go to his father's store, but wandered away. The parents will have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

NO BUSINESS OF IMPORTANCE IN EITHER BRANCH.

Senator Morgan Offers a Resolution for a Tariff Commission as an Amendment to the Wilson Bill—Pension Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The senate held a short session and but little business of importance was transacted. A brief debate on silver was precipitated by the intention expressed by the vice president to refer the Bland seigniorage bill (which had just been received from the house) to the finance committee. Mr. Stewart opposed this disposition of the bill and asked that it be allowed to lie on the table subject to being called up at any time. This was finally ordered. Mr. Stewart at the same time offered a free silver amendment to the bill.

The only other event of interest was the offering by Mr. Morgan of a resolution looking to the appointment of tariff commission members, which he offered as an amendment to the tariff bill. A number of bills of importance were passed.

An executive session of a little more than an hour was held, and a number of nominations confirmed.

The debate on the pension appropriation bill continued all day in the house, and at this considerable spirit was displayed. The principal speakers were Messrs. Dolliver, Hepburn, Enloe and Cannon. It is expected that the debate will be concluded this evening.

PORTLAND, Me., March 6.—Fire at Cape Elizabeth last evening burnt two buildings and destroyed $10,000 worth of property. The fire started from a bonfire in the street, celebrating the Republican victory. Cape Elizabeth has no fire apparatus, and only by the arrival of an engine from Portland was the loss of an entire street averted.

IMPORTANT.

There are two important requisites for a daily paper: 1st, it should print the news while it is fresh; 2nd, it should be printed so that you can read it. Compare THE SUN with other local papers on these important points.

THERE SEEMS to be no change in the situation in Lawrence. Why cannot that Lawrence trouble be settled by arbitration?

IT HAS been eventually decided that the meetings of the Brockton school board will hereafter be public. Why they should be private is a mystery.

IT SEEMS that Mr. Hawes was considerably mixed in his answers on cross-examination in the Garvey case. Either his memory or his veracity is at fault.

TO-MORROW THE committee on education will report upon the normal school question. The case will be argued in the legislature if the report is unfavorable.

THE ALDERMEN are expected to pass that $50,000 loan tomorrow night. They were expected to do that several weeks ago but seemed to have no desire to aid the unemployed.

WHEN GARVEY'S case is over, the democrats may enter proceedings to show that a certain republican official obtained public office by corrupt methods, by a violation of the caucus law and by repeating.

BROCKTON IS having a lively time settling the location of the new federal building. The question to be decided is whether it will be located where it will best accommodate the people or where it will be of most benefit to real estate owners.

MAYOR WHIPPLE of Brockton has a bill in the legislature relative to cider joints. They have become numerous in that city and a drink of the cider they furnish, it is alleged, is worse than the rat-gut whiskey sold in other prohibition cities.

THE CELEBRATION of Emmet's day as carried out under the auspices of the Celtic and Emerald Associates, was well calculated to keep alive the true spirit of Irish patriotism in the hearts of Irish citizens. The observance of Emmet's birthday cannot fail to promote love of country even here, not devotion to the Irish cause so much as love of this grand republic in which the principles for which Emmet died have long since triumphed and have been embodied in the grandest constitution ever framed for any nation. It is an indication of the total absence of religious hate in the Irish heart to find that the Irish revere the name of Emmet, though a Protestant, as they revere no other name.

THE LIQUOR LAWS.

The question of changing the liquor laws is in a state of chaotic uncertainty in the legislature. There is a large section of the delegates in favor of removing the license limit and leaving to the cities and towns the matter of fixing the fees for the various kind of licenses. Applicants for licenses are in the greatest perplexity at the present time and the fact that a commission appointed under Gov. Russell to report upon the Swedish system has recommended its adoption, does not simplify matters. This system provides for corporations to be formed in cities and towns to have the licenses for the sale of about 5 per cent. on the capital stock shall be applied for the benefit of the public to works of utility or improvements as specified in the law. The corporate bodies getting a license must give bonds for the legal conduct of the business. No stockholder in the company can receive a higher profit than five per cent. par value of his shares. The law if passed will be subject to local option as is the present law.

The license under the Norwegian system if adopted will be as follows:

First class—To sell liquors of any kind to be drank on the premises.

Second class—To sell liquors of any kind, in quantities of less than 50 gallons, not to be drunk on the premises.

Third class—To sell distilled liquors of any kind, but only in quantities of 50 gallons or more, not to be drunk on the premises.

Fourth class—To sell malt liquors of any kind, but only in quantities of 50 gallons or more, not to be drunk on the premises.

Fifth class—Licenses to clubs, as now provided by law.

Sixth class—Licenses to druggists and to apothecaries, as now provided by law, except that sales of intoxicating liquors of any kind by retail druggists and apothecaries for medicinal purposes shall be made only upon the prescription of a physician.

The fees for licenses granted under the provisions of this act shall be as follows;

For a license of the first class, not less than $1000 nor more than $2000; for a license of the second class, not less than $500 nor more than $1000; for a license of the third class, not less than $500 nor more than $1000; for a license of the fourth class, not less than $500 nor more than $2000; for a license of the fifth class, not less than $50 nor more than $500; for a license of the sixth class, $1.

Nothing in the act shall be construed to affect existing laws regulating the granting of licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors in a city or town voting to grant such licenses, and in which no corporation shall be established to take the same as herein provided.

Were this system adopted there would be no wrangling about licenses and the liquor business would no longer corrupt politics. But the republicans, although a majority in both branches of the legislature, are not likely to abandon the present system on account of the power it places in their hands to demoralize and defeat their opponents.

CAUSES OF RAILROAD FATALITIES.

The frequency of accidents on railroad crossings and railway tracks where there are no crossings seems to demand a speedy remedy. The question of abolishing grade crossings has been under discussion for a long time but as yet nothing has been done in this vicinity. It is time that decisive measures were adopted to get rid of the danger to public travel so disastrous in its fatalities. Another cause of frequent railroad accidents is the habit of walking on railroad tracks. This in England and other countries is made an offense punishable by a fine or imprisonment. It seems that nowhere is such a law more necessary than in this country because a great many people everywhere are accustomed to take to the railroad track whenever it affords them a shorter way to their destination. They do this at their own risk but in many cases they do not know the risk and they in consequence fall victims to accidents such as that in which an unknown man was cut in two on Western avenue yesterday. To save hundreds of lives annually in this state alone let grade crossings be abolished and let it be made a punishable offense to walk upon a railroad track.

CURRENT CLIPPINGS.

They Wanted Willie.

Relatives of the old fashioned sort are sad disturbers of the dignity of the rising generation, especially when they trot out pet names in public, as all fond parents of the old fashioned sort invariably insist on doing. It's a difficult thing for a parent to realize, anyway, that his child has grown up.

There is a young man in a position of great trust in one of the largest mercantile establishments of this town. He came from the country originally, but would rather have that forgotten. Yesterday a little old man entered the counting room. He was done up in about five lengths of red and yellow scarf and gave other evidences of hailing from the latitude of Johnson's creek or Findley's lake.

"Is Willie in?" he asked the clerk at the counter.

"Willie? Who's Willie?" questioned the puzzled youth.

"Why, our Willie. He's clerkin it here, ain't he?"

The young man was about to reply that Willie was not on his visiting list when the stately gentleman who is known to the head of the firm as "William," to the cashier and the principal bookkeeper as "Will," and to the other employees as "Mr. Jones," with the accent on the "Mr.," came forward and greeted the visitor as "father." But he will never again be called any name in that establishment, even by the smallest office boy, except "Willie."—Buffalo Express.

Strange Coincidence.

"—(—!—!" exclaimed the man as he fell into an open coal hole.

"That's strange," remarked a bystander.

"What's strange?" snorted the man as he climbed out.

"You're the twentieth man who's fallen in there this morning, and they've all made the same remarks."—Hallo.

A Loyal Citizen.

This is the man who sticks up for his employer.—Wonder.

He Could Have It.

Occasionally there comes a reminiscence of the runaway darky which shows not only his humor, but his irrepressible longing for the boon of freedom. Before the war there came into the public room of a hotel in Canada, near the frontier, one day, a bright looking negro.

"I s'pose you're a runaway slave," said one of the men in the room, looking sharply at the newcomer. Feeling that he was pretty well away from bondage, the darky responded in the affirmative.

"Well, we're glad enough that you've got away, but you don't seem to look very poor. Have good clothes down south?"

"Suttingly, sah, same clothes as my massa."

"But you got a good many thrashings, eh?"

"Nebber had a whipping in my life, sah."

"Never thrashed! Well, but I suppose you don't always get enough to eat, do you?"

"Always had enough, gemmen—nebber went hungry."

"What!" said the persistent interrogator. "Good clothes, no punishment, plenty to eat. Now, just think of it," he said, addressing a group of loungers. "This fellow has left a position where he enjoys all these privileges for an uncertainty."

"Gemmen," replied the darky, "all I'zo got to say respectin dem privileges is dat if any one ob you wants to avail himself ob 'em de situation am still open!"—Youth's Companion.

A WORD TO MOTHERS, A CHILD SAVED.

This certifies that DR. WILSON has restored my child to perfect health after all other doctors had failed. Some said it was suffering from its teeth, others said it could not live. It was failing all the time and was restless. No one knew what ailed the child, but said it could not be cured. At length one of Dr. Wilson's patients advised me to consult him. He understood and explained every ailment. With his peculiar method of diagnosing nothing is hid. He saw the child was suffering from a combination of difficulties, torpidity of the liver, chronic constipation and general phthisis. He said he could cure it, and he has been as good as his word. The child is now in the best of health. I would advise all mothers to take their children to DR. WILSON if they wish to save them. His skill has proved to be second to none.

With a mother's gratitude and many thanks to DR. WILSON,

IMPORTANT.

There are two important requisites for a daily paper: 1st, it should print the news while it is fresh; 2nd, it should be printed so that you can read it. Compare THE SUN with other local papers on these important points.

THERE SEEMS to be no change in the situation in Lawrence. Why cannot that Lawrence trouble be settled by arbitration?

IT HAS been eventually decided that the meetings of the Brockton school board will hereafter be public. Why they should be private is a mystery.

IT SEEMS that Mr. Hawes was considerably mixed in his answers on cross-examination in the Garvey case. Either his memory or his veracity is at fault.

TO-MORROW THE committee on education will report upon the normal school question. The case will be argued in the legislature if the report is unfavorable.

THE ALDERMEN are expected to pass that $50,000 loan tomorrow night. They were expected to do that several weeks ago but seemed to have no desire to aid the unemployed.

WHEN GARVEY'S case is over, the democrats may enter proceedings to show that a certain republican official obtained public office by corrupt methods, by a violation of the caucus law and by repeating.

BROCKTON is having a lively time settling the location of the new federal building. The question to be decided is whether it will be located where it will best accommodate the people or where it will be of most benefit to real estate owners.

MAYOR WHIPPLE of Brockton has a bill in the legislature relative to cider joints. They have become numerous in that city and a drink of the cider they furnish, it is alleged, is worse than the rat-gut whiskey sold in other prohibition cities.

THE CELEBRATION of Emmet's day as carried out under the auspices of the Celtic and Emerald Associates, was well calculated to keep alive the true spirit of Irish patriotism in the hearts of Irish citizens. The observance of Emmet's birthday cannot fail to promote love of country even here, not devotion to the Irish cause so much as love of this grand republic in which the principles for which Emmet died have long since triumphed and have been embodied in the grandest constitution ever framed for any nation. It is an indication of the total absence of religious hate in the Irish heart to find that the Irish revere the name of Emmet, though a Protestant, as they revere no other name.

THE LIQUOR LAWS.

The question of changing the liquor laws is in a state of chaotic uncertainty in the legislature. There is a large section of the delegates in favor of removing the license limit and leaving to the cities and towns the matter of fixing the fees for the various kind of licenses. Applicants for licenses are in the greatest perplexity at the present time and the fact that a commission appointed under Gov. Russell to report upon the Swedish system has recommended its adoption, does not simplify matters. This system provides for corporations to be formed in cities and towns to have the licenses for the sale of about 5 per cent. on the capital stock shall be applied for the benefit of the public to works of utility or improvements as specified in the law. The corporate bodies getting a license must give bonds for the legal conduct of the business. No stockholder in the company can receive a higher profit than five per cent. par value of his shares. The law if passed will be subject to local option as is the present law.

The license under the Norwegian system if adopted will be as follows:

First class—To sell liquors of any kind to be drunk on the premises.

Second class—To sell liquors of any kind, in quantities of less than 50 gallons, not to be drunk on the premises.

Third class—To sell distilled liquors of any kind, but only in quantities of 50 gallons or more, not to be drunk on the premises.

Fourth class—To sell malt liquors of any kind, but only in quantities of 50 gallons or more, not to be drunk on the premises.

Fifth class—Licenses to clubs, as now provided by law.

Sixth class—Licenses to druggists and to apothecaries, as now provided by law, except that sales of intoxicating liquors of any kind by retail druggists and apothecaries for medicinal purposes shall be made only upon the prescription of a physician.

The fees for licenses granted under the provisions of this act shall be as follows:

For a license of the first class, not less than $1000 nor more than $2000; for a license of the second class, not less than $500 nor more than $1000; for a license of the third class, not less than $300 nor more than $1000; for a license of the fourth class, not less than $500 nor more than $1000; for a license of the fifth class, not less than $50 nor more than $500; for a license of the sixth class, $1.

Nothing in the act shall be construed to affect existing laws regulating the granting of licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors in a city or town voting to grant such licenses, and in which no corporation shall be established to take the same as herein provided.

Were this system adopted there would be no wrangling about licenses and the liquor business would no longer corrupt politics. But the republicans, although a majority in both branches of the legislature, are not likely to abandon the present system on account of the power it places in their hands to demoralize and defeat their opponents.

CAUSES OF RAILROAD FATALITIES.

The frequency of accidents on railroad crossings and railway tracks where there are no crossings seems to demand a speedy remedy. The question of abolishing grade crossings has been under discussion for a long time but as yet nothing has been done in this vicinity. It is time that decisive measures were adopted to get rid of the danger to public travel so disastrous in its fatalities. Another cause of frequent railroad accidents is the habit of walking on railroad tracks. This in England and other countries is made an offense punishable by a fine or imprisonment. It seems that nowhere is such a law more necessary than in this country because a great many people everywhere are accustomed to take to the railroad track whenever it affords them a shorter way to their destination. They do this at their own risk but in many cases they do not know the risk and they in consequence fall victims to accidents such as that in which an unknown man was cut in two on Western avenue yesterday. To save hundreds of lives annually in this state alone let grade crossings be abolished and let it be made a punishable offense to walk upon a railroad track.

CURRENT CLIPPINGS.

They Wanted Willie.

Relatives of the old fashioned sort are sad disturbers of the dignity of the rising generation, especially when they trot out pet names in public, as all fond parents of the old fashioned sort invariably insist on doing. It's a difficult thing for a parent to realize, anyway, that his child has grown up.

There is a young man in a position of great trust in one of the largest mercantile establishments of this town. He came from the country originally, but would rather have that forgotten. Yesterday a little old man entered the counting room. He was done up in about five lengths of red and yellow scarf and gave other evidences of hailing from the latitude of Johnson's creek or Findley's lake.

"Is Willie in?" he asked the clerk at the counter.

"Willie? Who's Willie?" questioned the puzzled youth.

"Why, our Willie. He's clerkin it here, ain't he?"

The young man was about to reply that Willie was not on his visiting list when the stately gentleman who is known to the head of the firm as "William," to the cashier and the principal bookkeeper as "Will," and to the other employees as "Mr. Jones," with the accent on the "Mr.," came forward and greeted the visitor as "father." But he will never again be called any name in that establishment, even by the smallest office boy, except "Willie."—Buffalo Express.

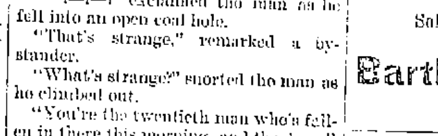

Strange Coincidence.

"—!—!—!" exclaimed the man as he fell into an open coal hole.

"That's strange," remarked a bystander.

"What's strange?" snorted the man as he climbed out.

"You're the twentieth man who's fallen in there this morning, and they've all made the same remarks."—Hallo.

Chronic Nasal Catarrh.

N. M. HODGES, Esq., of Laketown, Rich Co., Utah, says: "I was suffering from chronic catarrh, and bought half-dozen bottles of your Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am happy to say I am permanently cured of that disease."

He Could Have It.

Occasionally there comes a reminiscence of the runaway darky which shows not only his humor, but his irrepressible longing for the boon of freedom. Before the war there came into the public room of a hotel in Canada, near the frontier, one day, a bright looking negro.

"I expect you're a runaway slave," said one of the men in the room, looking sharply at the newcomer. Feeling that he was pretty well away from bondage, the darky responded in the affirmative.

"Well, we're glad enough that you've got away, but you don't seem to look very poor. Have you got clothes down south?"

"Suttingly, sah, same clothes as my massa."

"But you got a good many thrashings, eh?"

"Neber had a whipping in my life, sah."

"Never thrashed! Well, but I suppose you don't always get enough to eat, do you?"

"Always had enough, gemmen—neber went hungry."

"What!" said the persistent interrogator. "Good clothes, no punishment, plenty to eat. Now, just think of it," he said, addressing a group of loungers. "This fellow has left a position where he enjoyed all these privileges for an uncertainty."

"Gemmen," replied the darky, "all I've got to say respectin dem privileges is dat if any one ob you wants to avail hisself ob 'em de situation am still open!"—Youth's Companion.

MORLEY REMAINS CHIEF SECRETARY FOR IRELAND.

Radicals Greatly Displeased With the Queen's Action.

LONDON, March 6.—The Standard makes the following official announcement: The Earl of Kimberley will resume the foreign portfolio; Henry Fowler, the Indian portfolio; and T. E. Ellis, now a lord of the treasury, will become patronage secretary to the treasury, succeeding Mr. Majoribanks, the Liberal "whip."

The appointment of Mr. Fowler, who is now president of the local government board, is a surprise, but it is regarded as a good one, as he is well informed upon the financial questions and difficulties of India.

John Morley has consented to retain his portfolio as chief secretary for Ireland, at the urgent request of Lord Rosebery and others of his colleagues. Lord Rosebery has called a meeting of his party to be held at the foreign office on Monday next.

Upon the recommendation of Mr. Gladstone, the queen has raised Stuart Rendel, member of parliament, to the peerage.

Sir Reginald Earl Welby, C. G. B., permanent secretary of the treasury, has, upon the recommendation of Mr. Gladstone, been raised to the peerage.

Sir Algernon West, upon the recommendation of Mr. Gladstone, has been appointed a privy councillor, and Chairman Cowan of the Midlothian Liberal association has been made a baronet.

Finally, the queen, upon the recommendation of Mr. Gladstone, has made George W. Spencer Lyttleton and George H. Murray (Mr. Gladstone's secretaries) companions of the bath.

Plain Talk.

At the annual meeting last evening of the council of the London Liberal Radical union James Stuart, M. P., a Radical and Home Ruler, proposed a resolution of regret at the resignation of Mr. Gladstone, and expressing congratulation to Lord Rosebery and Sir William Harcourt, and setting forth that it was the belief of the union that they would faithfully endeavor to carry out the Newcastle program, and give prompt effect to Mr. Gladstone's declaration of war against the house of lords.

George Howell, M. P., an advanced Liberal, in favor of home rule, seconded the resolution, but he said he did so with regret, because he thought with others that Mr. Gladstone had been hounded out of political life. Mr. Howell said it was useless to disguise matters, but the supposition was that the old lady of Windsor and some of his own colleagues had not been as strong as they might have been in keeping the Grand Old Man at his post. The Liberal Radical party would suffer by his desertion or resignation. They ought to bear that in mind when discussing the claims of rival candidates for the premiership.

Another speaker declared that the queen had influenced Mr. Gladstone to retire, because she wanted Lord Rosebery to be premier before he married a princess, this being a reference to the rumor circulated some time ago that Lord Rosebery would marry a daughter of the Prince of Wales.

The resolution of Mr. Stuart was then adopted.

No Thanks.

The Chronicle calls attention to this incident: One of the most significant events of Saturday may possibly have escaped public notice. On that day the great steward of our empire placed his resignation, after 60 years of service, in his royal mistress' hands. That resignation was recorded by the queen in the court circular, in the formal phrase habitual to the resignation of a prime minister. It was "graciously accepted."

There was not a line, not a syllable, of regret or thanks, and far less of personal sorrow than was expressed when Lord Salisbury, a statesman who, compared with Mr. Gladstone, is a mere youngling in the great business of government, relinquished office after vainly attempting to coerce Ireland. The queen notified the public of the fact of Lord Salisbury's resignation by stating that she accepted that resignation with much regret.

Her majesty, we gather, does not view with regret the departure from her council of the mightiest of living Englishmen, the heroic figure of his age and the statesman of whom our children's children will speak when we are in the dust, and there would be, we suggest, reasons above all others why the nation expected some touch of personal feeling from the queen when she bade farewell to her illustrious servant.

He alone of all others has been the safeguard of the English monarchy and its preserver at once against its unwise friends and open foes. Again and again has Mr. Gladstone held the bridge against Radicals when the smallest outwork of privilege or endowment attached to the royal house was attacked, and now he goes, this mightiest of all figures of the Victorian age, unthanked and dismissed with the phrase that covered the retreat of the feeblest of his predecessors.

The Thunderer's Comment.

Commenting upon the new peers, The Times says: What a grimly ironic destiny seems to dog the footsteps of Mr. Gladstone's recent policy. Not only is the new premier acclaimed with unanimity by the party and is a member of the chamber which the retiring chief denounced in his farewell oration, but what is more singular, Lord Rosebery never sat in the house of commons. At the same time the "whip" on whom the government relied to keep its motley party together has been called to the house of lords, while to cap the climax of incongruity Mr. Gladstone's latest official act is to add two new hereditary legislators to the upper house. The article predicts that Lord Rosebery will hold the party together only a short time.

The Daily News writes a eulogy of John Morley, who, it says, for the sake of Ireland, has consented to sacrifice himself.

An Order of Much Benefit to Both Shippers and Shipowners.

WASHINGTON, March 6. — Assistant Secretary Hamlin has issued a circular of great importance to shipowners, extending the "Lay order" privilege. Hitherto vessels in the foreign trade arriving in harbors late in the afternoon have been compelled to wait until 9 o'clock the next morning, when the customs office opens for business, to receive their permit to unload, and when arriving even as early as 1 o'clock on Saturday afternoon they have been compelled to wait until the following Monday morning.

Under the new regulation the agents or owners of any steamship may in advance of the arrival of such steamship apply to the collector of the port for permission to unload such vessel immediately on her arrival. Any cargo discharged under this application must remain upon the wharf until removed in conformity with the terms of the regular general order to be issued after the completion of the entry at the house, and the cargo, during the time it is on the wharf, is to be at the owner's risk.

The vessel owners are also required to execute a bond in the sum of $100,000, to indemnify the collector for any losses and liabilities which may be occasioned by the unloading of the vessel in advance of issuance of the general permit. The unloading is to be done in the presence of an inspector of customs

FATALLY WOUNDED.

A Tough Character Assaults a Farmer at North Stonington, R. I.

NEW LONDON, Conn., March 6. — Ezekiel C Turner, a farmer residing in North Stonington, was shot and mortally wounded by Michael McGowan, who entered Turner's house and demanded a drink of cider. He was refused by Turner, and when he attempted to assault him Turner went into an adjoining room for a gun.

After a hard tussel, the roughs managed to wrest the gun away from the farmer, and in the sight of the farmer's wife, McGowan pulled the trigger and delivered all the shot into the farmer's abdomen Turner sank to the floor with the blood gushing from the wounds. As soon as he realized what he had done, McGowan and his companion named Donaghue fled. They were both arrested and held. Turner will not recover. McGowan belongs in Pawtucket, R. I., and has borne a hard reputation.

A Close Contest.

NEW LONDON, Conn., March 6—Two of the largest vessels in the coastwise fleet had an exciting race from Philadelphia to this port. They were the Mary A Randall and the Stella B Caplin. The race was to test the merits of the keel and centerboard built vessels, and the Randall, a centerboard vessel, reached this port about 10 minutes in the lead.

Election Day In Iowa

DES MOINES, March 6—Municipal elections were held in a number of cities throughout Iowa yesterday. The Republicans made gains in several cities that have been steadily Republican, and some others gained slightly in councilmen. The question of modifying the present prohibition law does not seem to have played a part.

IN COURT

The Legality of Leicester Elections Questioned.

ELECTION DAY IN MANY MAINE CITIES.

The Majority Still With the Republican Party.

BOSTON, March 6.—The annual meetings in Massachusetts towns were held yesterday. Some were quiet as a lamb, while others resembled more the lion.

At Dedham it was the most exciting in the history of the town. The great fight was over the license question. Mrs. Anna D Ely was a successful candidate for the board of overseers, being the first woman ever elected to such a position in the town.

At Hingham the townspeople turned out in full force.

The discussion at Middleboro was the most heated of any, and arose, as might have been expected, from the recent attack up on the town. When the question of town history was brought up it called forth many caustic words. One indignant citizen said that he hoped that it would be written by one who had breathed New England air more than six months.

There has not been such a vote cast before in the past 20 years in Danvers.

A Hitch at Leicester.

WORCESTER, Mass., March 6.—The legality of the votes taken at the town meeting in Leicester yesterday is to be tested in court by John McTamany, inventor of the ballot machine, which is authorized by the statutes for use in town meetings. At a town meeting last December it was voted to authorize the selectmen to procure the McTamany machines for the annual meeting.

The committee on election laws of the legislature came up from Boston to see the machines work, but were disappointed, as only 28 of the more than 500 votes cast were put in the machine. The opposition was led by A. E. Smith and William Bell, against whom McTamany threatens criminal proceedings for interfering with and intimidating voters. McTamany claims that the votes not cast in his machine are not legal, because the town has voted to use the machine and under the statutes is obliged to use it.

THE PINE TREE STATE

Shows That She Still Leans Toward the Republican Party.

BATH, Me., March 6.—James W. Wakefield (Rep.) was elected mayor with six aldermen and 17 councilmen. But one Citizen alderman and four Citizen councilmen were elected.

EASTPORT, Me., March 6.—Charles A Hume, Republican, was elected mayor. The Republicans also elected board of aldermen, and the remainder of their ticket.

DOINGS IN CONGRESS.

NO BUSINESS OF IMPORTANCE IN EITHER BRANCH.

Senator Morgan Offers a Resolution for a Tariff Commission as an Amendment to the Wilson Bill—Pension Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The senate held a short session and but little business of importance was transacted. A brief debate on silver was precipitated by the intention expressed by the vice president to refer the Bland seigniorage bill (which had just been received from the house) to the finance committee. Mr Stewart opposed this disposition of the bill and asked that it be allowed to lie on the table subject to being called up at any time. This was finally ordered. Mr. Stewart at the same time offered a free silver amendment to the bill.

The only other event of interest was the offering by Mr. Morgan of a resolution looking to the appointment of tariff commission members, which he offered as an amendment to the tariff bill. A number of bills of importance were passed.

An executive session of a little more than an hour was held, and a number of nominations confirmed.

The debate on the pension appropriation bill continued all day in the house, and at this considerable spirit was displayed. The principal speakers were Messrs Dolliver, Hepburn, Enloe and Cannon. It is expected that the debate will be concluded this evening.

Portland Sent Aid.

PORTLAND, Me., March 6.—Fire at Cape Elizabeth last evening burnt two buildings and destroyed $10,000 worth of property. The fire started from a bonfire in the street, celebrating the Republican victory. Cape Elizabeth has no fire apparatus, and only by the arrival of an engine from Portland was the loss of an entire street averted.

Much Good Has Been Done.

THE CONVICTION

That the country has turned the corner in a business sense is gaining ground. In place of stagnation there is presented evidence of a slow but sure revival of business. Especially is this so in reference to the sales of ELLINGWOOD'S COUCH BALSAM, for, during the past month, we have sold (wholesale and retail) more of this great Lung remedy than in any preceding month in the cold season. If the remedy did not possess actual merit and perform remarkable cures this would not happen; but since it was first introduced a few years ago, "the wheels commenced to go round," and every day adds a new cure to the already long list of cures brought about by the trial of ONE single bottle, and invalids today are well and hopeful who, a short time ago, were despondent. If your lungs are congested try only one bottle. It will cure that troublesome, wheezing cough,

TOWN MEETINGS

Lively Ones at Dracut and Tewksbury.

FARMERS KICK OVER ITEMS IN THE WARRANTS.

But All Finally Agree on Town Officers.

Dracut went republican.

Dracut went for license.

Yesterday was town meeting day, and the townsmen turned out in force. One generally expects to be favored with a flood of eloquence at Dracut's town meeting, but yesterday the loquacious ones either stayed at home or got no chance to speak.

There were thirteen articles in the warrant, and the only one dismissed was article 12, which called for the establishment of a system of sewerage at the Navy Yard.

It is claimed that before money can be expended for a sewerage system an act of the legislature must be adopted.

The officers of the meeting were: Edward A. Stevens, moderator; Eben T. Fox and Daniel D. Fox, ballot clerks, Geo. F. Sparks and Clement A. Hamblett, tellers; Chas. H. Jacques, deputy ballot clerk.

The town lists of jurors were accepted as follows:

Frank L. Crosby, Bernice Parker, John C. Wiggin, Almon Richardson, Fred A. Fox, Wm. Tyrell, Jr., Granville Coburn, Joshua R. Milliken, Phineas Richardson, Charles Richardson, W. Penbody, Geo. R. Fox, Daniel D. Fox, Warren C. Hamblett, Simon E. Young, Thomas H. Connell Robert Mills, Wm. H. Upham, Michael Whelton, Roswell S. Fox, Edwin Hovey, Geo. W. Varnum, M. L. Bassett.

The appropriations were as follows—Schools, $6300; repairing highways, $8000; lighting streets, $500; current expenses, $1400; police, $300; new seats for schools Nos. 3 and 4, $300; removing ledge near George Kelley's, $200; widening stone bridge over Beaver brook, $600; music in public schools, $500.

It was voted to charge 6 per cent. interest on all taxes unpaid after Dec. 1, 1894, and to pay 1½ per cent. for collection.

The town report showed that the cost of running the several departments of the town last year was as follows:

Schools, $5401.36; repairing school houses, $343.30; transportation of scholars, $503.95, roads and bridges, $3418 70; widening Lakeview avenue; $7223.42, of which the railroad company paid $3060.92; town farm road, $200; Nashua road, $702.26; widening Mammoth road, $610.58; miscellaneous road expenses, $998.92; out of $981 15 for lighting there is a balance of $451.55; out of $780.63 for police there is a balance of $381.58; new street lights $100; improving burying grounds, $276.35; miscellaneous expenses, $547.40; salaries, $1207.72; the relief of poor in almshouses cost $772 and out of door relief $391.81. Soldiers' relief, $35, state aid $190, military aid, $180.

Out of $17,599 89 for current expenses there is an unexpended balance of $8,718.41.

The taxes collected amounted to $17,630.69 and the balance uncollected Feb. 1 was $8 279.02.

The total indebtedness of the town Feb 1 was $7,621.04; valuation of real estate, $1,497,050; personal, $212,258; total, $1,709,308.

The amount of taxes assessed was $18,702.63: including $28 in poll taxes. The rate of taxation $10.25 per $1000.

The election of town officers was very close and exciting. At 3.45 when the polls closed it was found that 408 names, out of a total registration of 472 had been voted upon.

Roswell S. Fox was the only candidate for treasurer and received every vote cast for that office—280.

For town clerk, Chas. E. McCarthy, dem., received 194 votes; Guyton M. Hall, rep., 102.

Oliver J. Coburn, Frank I. Hill and Charles E Jones, reps., were elected selectmen, assessors and overseers of the poor, over John G. Hubbard, John T. Sparks and Michael Whelton democrats.

The three republican candidates, George R. Fox, Fred R. Hill ann Edward A. Stevens were elected to the school committee, defeating the democratic candidates, Joseph E. Kennedy, George Otley and Clarence E. Wheeler.

Franklin P. Fox was the candidate of both parties for constable and collector of taxes, and was elected.

The contest for auditor was between Granville Coburn, rep., and John H. Ames, dem. The former received 194 to 181 for Ames.

The town voted in favor of license 199 to 171.

The other officers chosen were: Fire wardens, James Duffy, L. Stephen Collins, Geo. W. Ducey. Field drivers, Geo. F. Tucker, James Frye, Rockwood D. Coburn, Rockwood D. Snow. Prescott L. Jones, David D. Fox, Geo. W. Varnum, Geo. Otley, James M. Coburn.

Surveyors of lumber and measures of wood—Albert J. Jaquith, Charles L. Hodge, Edwin Hovey, Rockwood D. Coburn, Charles H. Dennison, Henry Varnum, Chas. E. Jones, E. A. Stevens.

Tewksbury's town meeting was held yesterday, and was largely attended. Josiah Clark was almost unanimously chosen moderator. He has attended every town meeting for the past fifty years, with one exception.

Before the noon intermission the town officers were elected as follows: Selectmen, assessors and overseers of the poor, Frank H. Farmer, chairman; George E. Marshall, Frank A. Fitzgerald; town clerk, John H. Chandler; town treasurer, Frank H. Farmer; collector of taxes, Milton Austin; school committee, Albert S. Moore, chairman; Gideon H. Candee, secretary, J. F. French; trustees of the public library, J. C. Kittredge, Frank A. Fitzgerald, Helen Eastman, Rev. James Alexander, Albert J. Trull, Anna Coggin; superintendent of schools, Junius C. Knowlton; superintendent of streets, Porter Mears; auditor, William H. Lee.

Dinner was served at the Congregational church by the Ladies' aid society for which a vote of thanks was tendered them.

The usual town officers and committee reports were adopted with the exception of that of Enoch Foster, who reported on the condition of the Long fund.

Joshua Daniels urged the appointment of a committee to investigate the matter. A committee consisting of Messrs. Benjamin Spaulding, John Dane, John H. Chandler was appointed to look into the fund.

In the absence of Chairman Pickering of the high school committee the report was read by Enoch Foster. Mr. Daniels wanted to know if the building leaked. He was told it had been repaired. He then wished to know if the contractor hadn't failed and if the town was liable.

A short discussion followed after which Michael Smith arose and asked the gathering not to be dictated to by men who had no more brains than a Dublin dancing master.

Appropriations were then considered. It was voted to appropriate $8000 for incidentals and $8500 for highways. After a lively discussion it was voted that the town should not carry the school children from the east and south districts to the center school.

The appropriation of $7500 for schools and school houses was made almost unanimously.

The next business was to see if the town would vote to withdraw from its alliance with the towns of North Reading, Tyngsboro and Dracut, regarding the superintendency of schools, and vote to discontinue the employment of a superintendent for the schools of this town. After a lengthy discussion a ballot was taken as follows: Yeas 42, nays 120.

The treasurer was authorized to borrow on the town's credit, upon approval by the selectmen, $10,000.

The question of licenses resulted: yeas 8, nays 77.

It was voted to appropriate $75 for the observance of Decoration day.

An appropriation of $700 for a sewer was made.

The meeting then adjourned.

Tyngsboro Town Meetings.

The first town meeting at Tyngsboro dissolved after refusing to accept the report of the committee appointed Jan. 31. The second town meeting dissolved after refusing to place the school houses in the hands of a committee other than the school committee.

Strikes!

Strikes!!

Strikes!!!

Strikes bring joy to the bowler, but I fear distress to the thousands of operatives in Lawrence and Fall River.

Strikes are successful only with a rising market—never with a falling one. The present depressed condition of the markets and trade generally, should deter the operatives from striking against a reduction of wages. A reduction of wages is always to be deplored, but in the winter time what are the operatives to do but submit: a half loaf is better than none, but with the return of spring it is hoped there will be a revival of trade, let us hope the old schedule of wages will be restored and consequently everybody made happy.

In the meantime be of good cheer, keep good hours, spend much time at home; you are then away from temptation, and if you must have something to cheer you and the family, why send an order to John Warburton, Globe Hotel, for Port or Sherry Wine, 3 large bottles for $1. Whiskey for family use 75c. per bottle, 3 for $2.

PARLIAMENT

Kimberley Succeeds New Prime Minister.

MORLEY REMAINS CHIEF SECRETARY FOR IRELAND.

Radicals Greatly Displeased With the Queen's Action.

LONDON, March 6.—The Standard makes the following official announcement: The Earl of Kimberley will resume the foreign portfolio; Henry Fowler, the Indian portfolio; and T. E. Ellis, now a lord of the treasury, will become patronage secretary to the treasury, succeeding Mr. Majoribanks, the Liberal "whip."

The appointment of Mr. Fowler, who is now president of the local government board, is a surprise, but it is regarded as a good one, as he is well informed upon the financial questions and difficulties of India.

John Morley has consented to retain his portfolio as chief secretary for Ireland, at the urgent request of Lord Rosebery and others of his colleagues. Lord Rosebery has called a meeting of his party to be held at the foreign office on Monday next.

Upon the recommendation of Mr. Gladstone, the queen has raised Stuart Rendel, member of parliament, to the peerage.

Sir Reginald Earl Welby, C. G. B., permanent secretary of the treasury, has, upon the recommendation of Mr. Gladstone, been raised to the peerage.

Sir Algernon West, upon the recommendation of Mr. Gladstone, has been appointed a privy councillor, and Chairman Cowan of the Midlothian Liberal association has been made a baronet.

Finally, the queen, upon the recommendation of Mr. Gladstone, has made George W. Spencer Lyttleton and George H. Murray (Mr. Gladstone's secretaries) companions of the bath.

Plain Talk.

At the annual meeting last evening of the council of the London Liberal Radical union James Stuart, M. P., a Radical and Home Ruler, proposed a solution of regret at the resignation of Mr. Gladstone, and expressing congratulation to Lord Rosebery and Sir William Harcourt, and setting forth that it was the belief of the union that they would faithfully endeavor to carry out the Newcastle program, and give prompt effect to Mr. Gladstone's declaration of war against the house of lords.

George Howell, M. P., an advanced Liberal, in favor of home rule, seconded the resolution, but he said he did so with regret, because he thought with others that Mr. Gladstone had been hounded out of political life. Mr. Howell said it was useless to disguise matters, but the supposition was that the old lady of Windsor and some of his own colleagues had not been as strong as they might have been in keeping the Grand Old Man at his post. The Liberal Radical party would suffer by his desertion or resignation. They ought to bear that in mind when discussing the claims of rival candidates for the premiership.

Another speaker declared that the queen had influenced Mr. Gladstone to retire, because she wanted Lord Rosebery to be premier before he married a princess, this being a reference to the rumor circulated some time ago that Lord Rosebery would marry a daughter of the Prince of Wales.

The resolution of Mr. Stuart was then adopted.

No Thanks.

The Chronicle calls attention to this incident: One of the most significant events of Saturday may possibly have escaped public notice. On that day the great steward of our empire placed his resignation, after 60 years of service, in his royal mistress' hands. That resignation was recorded by the queen in the court circular, in the formal phrase habitual to the resignation of a prime minister. It was "graciously accepted."

There was not a line, not a syllable, of regret or thanks, and far less of personal sorrow than was expressed when Lord Salisbury, a statesman who, compared with Mr. Gladstone, is a mere youngling in the great business of government, relinquished office after vainly attempting to coerce Ireland. The queen notified the public of the fact of Lord Salisbury's resignation by stating that she accepted that resignation with much regret.

Her majesty, we gather, does not view with regret the departure from her council of the mightiest of living Englishmen, the heroic figure of his age and the statesman of whom our children's children will speak when we are in the dust, and there would be, we suggest, reasons above all others why the nation expected some touch of personal feeling from the queen when she bade farewell to her illustrious servant.

He alone of all others has been the safeguard of the English monarchy and its preserver at once against its unwise friends and open foes. Again and again has Mr. Gladstone held the bridge against Radicals when the smallest outwork of privilege or endowment attached to the royal house was attacked, and now he goes, this mightiest of all figures of the Victorian age, unthanked and dismissed with the phrase that covered the retreat of the feeblest of his predecessors.

The Thunderer's Comment.

Commenting upon the new peers, The Times says: What a grimly ironic destiny seems to dog the footsteps of Mr. Gladstone's recent policy. Not only is the new premier acclaimed with unanimity by the party and is a member of the chamber which the retiring chief denounced in his farewell oration, but what is more singular, Lord Rosebery never sat in the house of commons. At the same time the "whip" on whom the government relied to keep its motley party together has been called to the house of lords, while to cap the climax of incongruity Mr. Gladstone's latest official act is to add two new hereditary legislators to the upper house. The article predicts that Lord Rosebery will hold the party together only a short time.

The Daily News writes a eulogy of John Morley, who, it says, for the sake of Ireland, has consented to sacrifice himself.

Large Tannery Burned.

WOBURN, Mass., March 6.—Early this morning fire was discovered in the three-story tannery, owned by Keaney & Murphy, and occupied by them and by G. & E. G. Place as a tannery. The flames spread rapidly, and the building was burned to the ground, entailing a loss of at least $50,000.

Interested Maryland Creditors.

BALTIMORE, March 6.—The decision of Judge Hammond of the Massachusetts supreme court refusing to turn over $280,000 held by New England Iron Hall creditors to the Indianapolis receiver was read with great interest by the large number of members in Maryland. Judge Dennis will shortly be called upon here to decide practically the same question.

WILL BE APPRECIATED.

An Order of Much Benefit to Both Shippers and Shipowners.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Assistant Secretary Hamlin has issued a circular of great importance to shipowners, extending the "Lay order" privilege. Hitherto vessels in the foreign trade arriving in harbors late in the afternoon have been compelled to wait until 9 o'clock the next morning, when the customs office opens for business, to receive their permit to unload, and when arriving even as early as 1 o'clock on Saturday afternoon they have been compelled to wait until the following Monday morning.

Under the new regulation the agents or owners of any steamship may in advance of the arrival of such steamship apply to the collector of the port for permission to unload such vessel immediately on her arrival. Any cargo discharged under this application must remain upon the wharf until removed in conformity with the terms of the regular general order to be issued after the completion of the entry at the house, and the cargo, during the time it is on the wharf, is to be at the owner's risk.

The vessel owners are also required to execute a bond in the sum of $100,000, to indemnify the collector for any losses and liabilities which may be occasioned by the unloading of the vessel in advance of issuance of the general permit. The unloading is to be done in the presence of an inspector of customs.

FATALLY WOUNDED.

A Tough Character Assaults a Farmer at North Stonington, R. I.

NEW LONDON, Conn., March 6.—Ezekiel C. Turner, a farmer residing in North Stonington, was shot and mortally wounded by Michael McGowan, who entered Turner's house and demanded a drink of cider. He was refused by Turner, and when he attempted to assault him Turner went into an adjoining room for a gun.

After a hard tussel, the roughs managed to wrest the gun away from the farmer, and in the sight of the farmer's wife, McGowan pulled the trigger and delivered all the shot into the farmer's abdomen. Turner sank to the floor with the blood gushing from the wounds. As soon as he realized what he had done, McGowan and his companion named Donaghue fled. They were both arrested and held. Turner will not recover. McGowan belongs in Pawtucket, R. I., and has borne a hard reputation.

A Close Contest.

NEW LONDON, Conn., March 6.—Two of the largest vessels in the coastwise fleet had an exciting race from Philadelphia to this port. They were the Mary A. Randall and the Stella B. Caplin. The race was to test the merits of the keel and centerboard built vessels, and the Randall, a centerboard vessel, reached this port about 10 minutes in the lead.

Election Day in Iowa.

DES MOINES, March 6.—Municipal elections were held in a number of cities throughout Iowa yesterday. The Republicans made gains in several cities that have been steadily Republican, and some others gained slightly in councilmen. The question of modifying the present prohibition law does not seem to have played a part.

Advice to Miners.

MASSILLON, O., March 6.—The national executive board of the United Mine Workers of America have issued a circular calling upon all miners now on strike to so adjust matters in dispute that they may return to work, to the end that all may be prepared to eventually strike together for higher wages.

Referee Was Humane.

SAVANNAH, March 6.—Thomas Silverthorn knocked out James Duffy in eight rounds at Thunderbolt last night. The ninth round was called, but Referee Dempsey declared it inhuman to allow the fight to proceed, and decided Silverthorn the winner.

HAMMOND, Ind., March 6.—After being out a week, the East Chicago strikers decided to accept the reduction, and nearly all of them returned to work yesterday. The iron and steel mills run day and night to make up for lost time.

Convict Commits Suicide.

SYRACUSE, March 6.—Jesse Wade committed suicide in Auburn state prison by hanging himself by a silk handkerchief from his cell door. Wade was sentenced for burglary. He had been in the prison but three days.

Decidedly Eccentric.

HILLSBURG, Ont., March 6.—James Mathers died here yesterday. For 50 years he and his brother Benjamin have lived in squalor and filth in a log house, which was almost unfit for hogs. He left $75,000.

Portion of Deadwood In Ashes.

DEADWOOD, S. D., March 6.—Fire broke out here in Fasbold's saloon, and destroyed all that part of the city lying between the center of Main street and Chinatown. The best portion of the city is in ruins.

Mother and Child Cremated.

YONKERS, N. Y., March 6.—Mrs. Drophy and her child were burned to death in their home in Mosholm last night. A lamp exploded, and the house was burned down.

IN COURT

The Legality of Leicester Elections Questioned.

ELECTION DAY IN MANY MAINE CITIES.

The Majority Still With the Republican Party.

BOSTON, March 6.—The annual meetings in Massachusetts towns were held yesterday. Some were quiet as a lamb, while others resembled more the lion.

At Dedham it was the most exciting in the history of the town. The great fight was over the license question. Mrs. Anna E. Ely was a successful candidate for the board of overseers, being the first woman ever elected to such a position in the town.

At Hingham the townspeople turned out in full force.

The discussion at Middleboro was the most heated of any, and arose, as might have been expected, from the recent attack upon the town. When the question of town history was brought up it called forth many caustic words. One indignant citizen said that he hoped that it would be written by one who had breathed New England air more than six months.

There has not been such a vote cast before in the past 20 years in Danvers.

A Hitch at Leicester.

WORCESTER, Mass., March 6.—The legality of the votes taken at the town meeting in Leicester yesterday is to be tested in court by John McTamany, inventor of the ballot machine, which is authorized by the statutes for use in town meetings. At a town meeting last December it was voted to authorize the selectmen to procure the McTamany machines for the annual meeting.

The committee on election laws of the legislature came up from Boston to see the machines work, but were disappointed, as only 25 of the more than 500 votes cast were put in the machine. The opposition was led by A. E. Smith and William Bell, against whom McTamany threatens criminal proceedings for interfering with and intimidating voters. McTamany claims that the votes not cast in his machine are not legal, because the town has voted to use the machine and under the statutes is obliged to use it.

THE PINE TREE STATE

Shows That She Still Leans Toward the Republican Party.

BATH, Me., March 6.—James W. Wakefield (Rep.) was elected mayor with six aldermen and 17 councilmen. But one Citizen alderman and four Citizen councilmen were elected.

LEWISTON, Me., March 6.—The candidates for the office of mayor were Frank L. Noble (Rep.), Dr. L. J. Martel (Dem.) and T. F. Callahan (Citizen). F. L. Noble (Rep.) was elected mayor. Five wards went Republican and two Democratic. Excitement ran high, and there was fighting in wards 3 and 5.

EASTPORT, Me., March 6.—Charles A. Hume, Republican, was elected mayor. The Republicans also elected board of aldermen, and the remainder of their ticket.

DAMARISCOTTA, Me., March 6.—The Republicans carried Bristol, electing every officer. The town has been heretofore Democratic.

PORTLAND, Me., March 6.—Westbrook Republicans re-elected their mayor, the city clerk, 11 out of 18 aldermen, and eight out of 10 school committeemen.

AUBURN, Me., March 6.—Smith (Rep.) was elected mayor. The aldermen are unanimously Republican.

AUGUSTA, Me., March 6.—Hallowell Republicans elected L. D. Merchant mayor, and carried three out of five wards.

ELLSWORTH, Me., March 6.—Returns indicate that Nehemiah H. Higgins (Dem.) was elected mayor by 2 majority over Fred B. Aiken (Rep.). Four of the five aldermen are Republicans.

WATERVILLE, Me., March 6.—Christian Knauff (Rep.) was elected mayor. Five wards out of seven are Republican.

HALLOWELL, Me., March 6.—L. D. Merchant (Rep.) was elected mayor. Republicans carry three wards and Fusion two.

GARDINER, Me., March 6.—O. B. Clason was elected mayor. The Democrats carried one ward and Republicans the remaining six.

SACO, Me., March 6.—Republicans made a clean sweep here, carrying seven wards and electing Frank Foss mayor. At Old Orchard Republicans elected the whole ticket.

PORTLAND, Me., March 6.—Mayor Baxter (Rep.) was returned with 1200 majority. Five out of the seven wards went Republican, and Republicans also elected 16 out of 21 councilmen.

ROCKLAND, Me., March 6.—The city elections resulted in the re-election of Mayor Knight (Rep.). Every officer elected is a Republican.

The towns of Cape Elizabeth, Gorham, Burton and Kennebunkport also went strongly Republican.

Of the town officers of Bucksport, Me., John J. Lee for treasurer was the only Democrat elected.

Starved to Death.

NEW YORK, March 6.—A Herald special from Paris says Miss Ida Van Etten, the American writer, died from starvation.

"Heavy Deathly Feeling!"

A REMARKABLE CURE IN MALDEN, MASS.

"FROM THE FIRST DOSE I FELT BETTER!"

The following from one of Malden's reliable citizens, and certified to by the Manufacturing Firm of H. A. & F. L. Miner, that owns the TWO LARGE STORES at No. 20 and No. 225 Pleasant St., reads like a fairy tale, "YET 'TIS TRUE, EVERY WORD OF IT."

DANA SARSAPARILLA Co.:

GENTLEMEN:—About a year ago I was troubled with a HEAVY DEATHLY FEELING in my stomach, everything I ate caused severe distress.

I noticed your ad. in a Bangor paper and being a native of that place, and reading of the benefit old acquaintances had received from it, I secured a bottle of at Miner's Drug Store in this city, they being the only ones that kept it in stock at that time. Strange to say that FROM THE FIRST DOSE I FELT BETTER and continued to improve and after taking two bottles, I had a hearty appetite and could digest almost anything I ate. Have recommended it to at least a dozen friends, and all I have heard from, have derived great benefit from it.

Very truly yours, WM. I. ASH. No. 1 Buckland Place, Malden, Mass.

We hereby certify that we sold Mr. Ash DANA'S SARSAPARILLA, and his statement we know to be true in every particular.

Very respectfully, H. A. & F. L. MINER.

THE CONVICTION

That the country has turned the corner in a business sense is gaining ground. In place of stagnation there is presented evidence of a slow but sure revival of business. Especially is this so in reference to the sales of ELLINGWOOD'S COUGH BALSAM, for, during the past month, we have sold (wholesale and retail) more of this great Lung remedy than in any preceding month in the cold season. If the remedy did not possess actual merit and perform remarkable cures this would not happen; but since it was first introduced a few years ago, "the wheels commenced to go round," and every day adds a new cure to the already long list of cures brought about by the trial of ONE single bottle, and invalids today are well and hopeful who, a short time ago, were despondent. If your lungs are congested try only one bottle. It will cure that troublesome, wheezing cough,

Strikes!

Strikes!!

Strikes!!!

Strikes bring joy to the bowler, but I fear distress to the thousands of operatives in Lawrence and Fall River.

Strikes are successful only with a rising market—never with a falling one. The present depressed condition of the markets and trade generally, should deter the operatives from striking against a reduction of wages. A reduction of wages is always to be deplored, but in the winter time what are the operatives to do but submit; a half loaf is better than none, but with the return of spring it 's hoped there will be a revival of trade; let us hope the old schedule of wages will be restored and consequently everybody made happy.

In the meantime be of good cheer, keep good hours, spend much time at home; you are then away from temptation, and if you must have something to cheer you and the family, why send an order to John Warburton, Globe Hotel, for Port or Sherry Wine, 3 large bottles for $1. Whiskey for family use 75c. per bottle, 3 for $2.

Played With Cartridges.

Horace Nixon, clerk at McDonald's clothing store had a narrow escape from being struck by a 32 calibre bullet yesterday noon. He was going to dinner and when at the corner of Fletcher street and Broadway he heard a report as the electric car came along. A bullet whizzed by and another cut his trousers leg and embedded itself in the board fence. He examined the board fence to be certain it was a bullet and then he went to the car track where the report came from. There he found three 32 calibre cartridge shells, all battered out of shape. Mr. Nixon picked up the shells. Two boys placed them there he thinks as he saw boys leave the track before he reached the city carpenter shop. This was pretty risky fun.

Spiritualists Elect Officers.

The First Spiritualist society held its annual meeting last night in Post 185 hall. The treasurer, Amos Green, reported the receipts to have been $780 53, expenses $560.93, balance $225 60, of the expenses $372.35 were paid to mediums and $120 for hall rent.

The election of officers resulted: clerk, Edmund Pickup; treasurer and collector, Amos Green; assessors, Alden Frazier and E. C. Perkins.

The officers elected for the lyceum were: conductor, Miss Winona Day; assistant, Joseph O. Perkins; librarian, Mrs. Lucy Farrington; treasurer, Amos Green. The remaining officers were left to be chosen by the lyceum itself.

On the appointment of the prudential committee it was contended that the number had been increased in an illegal manner from 3 to 5 at a former meeting. The moderator ruled that as the article in the warrant called for five on the prudential committee five should be chosen and the ballot resulted in the election of James Coffin, David Whittaker, C. F. Hill, Miss Winona Day and Miss Florence F. Pickup.

WANT NO TROUBLE.

So They Will Give Up the Hall for April 5th.

The St. John's parish may be obliged to postpone their festival, announced for April 5th as it appears that another society demands the hall. A year ago this latter society re-engaged Huntington hall after an entertainment for Fast night of '94, but did not make a cash deposit as customary. When St. John's parish committee engaged the hall a few weeks ago nothing was said about its being engaged. They deposited $10 as the rule required and issued 1500 tickets. Now the society which claims to have hired the hall last year threatens to go to law to determine their right to the hall. The parish committee do not want to have legal trouble so will relinquish the claim to the hall. As a matter of fact it would appear to have the better right to the hall, and their $10 deposit would seem to determine it.

BAY STATE LEGISLATURE

DIVERSE OPINIONS IN REGARD TO THE UNEMPLOYED.

Labor Men Appear Before the Legislature—Bills in the Interest of Fraternal Organizations.

BOSTON, March 6.—The committee on unemployed gave a hearing in the chamber of the house of representatives on the problem of the unemployed and alleviating their distress

State Organizer Pillar of the American Federation of Labor said that state farms and state factories are impracticable Labor asked for shorter hours and a larger share of the product of their work.

He would suggest to meet the question at the present moment all the state work needed should be done at once, and done by the state, not by contract. The state should build a Cape Cod canal and operate it.

Another thing which should be done is to increase the school age of the child and take children out of the factories, where now they are allowed to compete with the father. He was opposed to a commission on the unemployed.

Morrison I. Swift read the document adopted by the unemployed. He suggested that garment making shops be opened.

Patrick O'Neil, who ran for governor on the Socialist labor ticket, said the duty of the state was to provide for the culture of the citizens

The legislative committee on insurance considered two bills in the interests of fraternal beneficiary organizations. The first authorized the latter organizations to grant inducements to procure new members.

J. H. Butler appeared for the petitioners, requesting the passage of the bill. H. H. C Miller advocated the measure The Knights of Honor insisted that existing laws in the commonwealth are by far too stringent. The proposed change would assist their organization. Several witnesses favored the plan.

The committee then heard the second bill amending the law so that the death fund may be used for no other purpose than therein described, excepting for the payment of counsel, witnesses and court fees incurred in contesting claims believed to be fraudulent. The hearing was then closed.

MORE DELAY

The Wilson Bill to Be Remodelled.

SOME HINTS WHICH HAVE PASSED UNHEEDED.

Debate Expected to Begin About March 19.

WASHINGTON, March 6—Senators Jones, McPherson and Vest continued their work on the Wilson bill at the Capitol until 10 o'clock last night, but did not get the bill in shape to suit them and stopped at that hour with the intention of resuming the work today. They announced at the conclusion of the meeting that the bill would not be in shape to be reported to the full committee today.

The senators had the clerk of the house ways and means committee with them during the meeting last evening, and it is understood that they went over many items of the bill, making careful comparisons of the changes with the house bill. It has been found that some of the amendments made do not concur with the main portions of the bill, and many corrections have been found necessary at the last hour. This work is consuming much of the time of the committee, as well as that which it is necessary to give to the fixing of rates on the disputed items.

On Saturday it was understood that all of the controverted articles except sugar had been agreed to and settled, but yesterday it was asserted that there is another hitch, and a recast has been ordered on several of the articles taken from the free list and put on the dutiable list The demands of the conservative senators, the committee asserts, are unreasonable, and it is not disposed to accede to them.

Committee Won't Yield.

The committee does not believe there has been any combination of the dissatisfied senators to kill the bill in the event they fail to get all that they demand. The Louisiana senators, the committee asserts, have endeavored to create this impression. They do not believe that the senators who are urging coal and iron ore to be put on the dutiable list would vote against the bill if those two articles were to remain on the free list.

Holding this view, the committee is not disposed to yield to the demands of those senators who have given so much trouble. The committee is willing to yield a little for harmony's sake, but not beyond the line where the Democratic party can stand and maintain its tariff reform policy.

Assistant Secretary Hamlin was before the committee to discuss the administration features of the bill, which come within that part of the treasury work over which he presides.

Its Future.

The course of the bill in the senate will become a matter of interesting conjecture. When it is finally reported it will be sent to the calendar, pending the preparation of reports and of speeches. This will take at least 10 days, and according to the judgment of a Democratic senator, the bill can hardly be called up for the commencement of the general debate before Monday, the 19th instant. As soon as debate is begun, the majority will insist that the daily sessions be held from 12 to 6 o'clock.

"We are trying to report a bill that will bring to it the support of the entire party," said Senator McPherson, "but whether we shall be successful remains to be seen. We have and are encountering many obstacles."

Reunited.

E. K. BALDWIN, Clerk.

Played With Cartridges.

Horace Nixon, clerk at McDonald's clothing store had a narrow escape from being struck by a 32 calibre bullet yesterday noon. He was going to dinner and when at the corner of Fletcher street and Broadway he heard a report as the electric car came along. A bullet whizzed by and another cut his trousers leg and embedded itself in the board fence. He examined the board fence to be certain it was a bullet and then he went to the car track where the report came from. There he found three 32 calibre cartridge shells, all battered out of shape. Mr. Nixon picked up the shells. Two boys placed them there he thinks as he saw boys leave the track before he reached the city carpenter shop. This was pretty risky fun.

Spiritualists Elect Officers.

The First Spiritualist society held its annual meeting last night in Post 185 hall. The treasurer, Amos Green, reported the receipts to have been $798.53, expenses $573.03, balance $225.50, of the expenses $572.25 were paid to mediums and $129 for hall rent.

The election of officers resulted: clerk, Edmund Pickup; treasurer and collector, Amos Green; assessors, Aiden Frazier and E. C. Perkins.

The officers elected for the lyceum were: conductor, Miss Winona Day; assistant, Joseph O. Perkins; librarian, Mrs. Lucy Farrington; treasurer, Amos Green. The remaining officers were left to be chosen by the lyceum itself.

On the appointment of the prudential committee it was contended that the number had been increased in an illegal manner from 3 to 5 at a former meeting. The moderator ruled that as the article in the warrant called for five on the prudential committee five should be chosen and the ballot resulted in the election of James Collin, David Whittaker, C. F. Hill, Miss Winona Day and Miss Florence F. Pickup.

WANT NO TROUBLE.

So They Will Give Up the Hall for April 5th.

The St. John's parish may be obliged to postpone their festival, announced for April 5th as it appears that another society demands the hall. A year ago this latter society re-engaged Huntington hall after an entertainment for Fast night of '94, but did not make a cash deposit as customary. When St. John's parish committee engaged the hall a few weeks ago nothing was said about its being engaged. They deposited $10 as the rule required and issued 1500 tickets. Now the society which claims to have hired the hall last year threatens to go to law to determine their right to the hall. The parish committee do not want to have legal trouble so will relinquish the claim to the hall. As a matter of fact it would appear to have the better right to the hall, and their $10 deposit would seem to determine it.

BAY STATE LEGISLATURE

DIVERSE OPINIONS IN REGARD TO THE UNEMPLOYED.

Labor Men Appear Before the Legislature—Bills in the Interest of Fraternal Organizations.

BOSTON, March 6.—The committee on unemployed gave a hearing in the chamber of the house of representatives on the problem of the unemployed and alleviating their distress.

State Organizer Pillar of the American Federation of Labor said that state farms and state factories are impracticable. Labor asked for shorter hours and a larger share of the product of their work.

He would suggest to meet the question at the present moment all the state work needed should be done at once, and done by the state, not by contract. The state should build a Cape Cod canal and operate it.

Another thing which should be done is to increase the school age of the child and take children out of the factories, where now they are allowed to compete with the father. He was opposed to a commission on the unemployed.

Morrison I. Swift read the document adopted by the unemployed. He suggested that garment making shops be opened.

Patrick O'Neil, who ran for governor on the Socialist labor ticket, said the duty of the state was to provide for the culture of the citizens.

The legislative committee on insurance considered two bills in the interests of fraternal beneficiary organizations. The first authorized the latter organizations to grant inducements to procure new members.

J. H. Butler appeared for the petitioners, requesting the passage of the bill. H. H. C. Miller advocated the measure. The Knights of Honor insisted that existing laws in the commonwealth are by far too stringent. The proposed change would assist their organization. Several witnesses favored the plan.

The committee then heard the second bill amending the law so that the death fund may be used for no other purpose than therein described, excepting for the payment of counsel, witnesses and court fees incurred in contesting claims believed to be fraudulent. The hearing was then closed.

MORE DELAY

The Wilson Bill to Be Remodelled.

SOME HINTS WHICH HAVE PASSED UNHEEDED.

Debate Expected to Begin About March 19.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Senators Jones, McPherson and Vest continued their work on the Wilson bill at the Capitol until 10 o'clock last night, but did not get the bill in shape to suit them and stopped at that hour with the intention of resuming the work today. They announced at the conclusion of the meeting that the bill would not be in shape to be reported to the full committee today.

The senators had the clerk of the house ways and means committee with them during the meeting last evening, and it is understood that they went over many items of the bill, making careful comparisons of the changes with the house bill. It has been found that some of the amendments made do not concur with the main portions of the bill, and many corrections have been found necessary at the last hour. This work is consuming much of the time of the committee, as well as that which it is necessary to give to the fixing of rates on the disputed items.

On Saturday it was understood that all of the controverted articles except sugar had been agreed to and settled, but yesterday it was asserted that there is another hitch, and a recast has been ordered on several of the articles taken from the free list and put on the dutiable list. The demands of the conservative senators, the committee asserts, are unreasonable, and it is not disposed to accede to them.

Committee Won't Yield.

The committee does not believe there has been any combination of the dissatisfied senators to kill the bill in the event they fail to get all that they demand. The Louisiana senators, the committee asserts, have endeavored to create this impression. They do not believe that the senators who are urging coal and iron ore to be put on the dutiable list would vote against the bill if those two articles were to remain on the free list.

Holding this view, the committee is not disposed to yield to the demands of those senators who have given so much trouble. The committee is willing to yield a little for harmony's sake, but not beyond the line where the Democratic party can stand and maintain its tariff reform policy.

Assistant Secretary Hamlin was before the committee to discuss the administration features of the bill, which come within that part of the treasury work over which he presides.

Its Future.

The course of the bill in the senate will become a matter of interesting conjecture. When it is finally reported it will be sent to the calendar, pending the preparation of reports and of speeches. This will take at least 10 days, and according to the judgment of a Democratic senator, the bill can hardly be called up for the commencement of the general debate before Monday, the 19th instant. As soon as debate is begun, the majority will insist that the daily sessions be held from 12 to 6 o'clock.

"We are trying to report a bill that will bring to it the support of the entire party," said Senator McPherson, "but whether we shall be successful remains to be seen. We have and are encountering many obstacles."

Reunited.

ST. LOUIS, March 6.—The two great bodies of Methodism met in a joint love feast and communion at Union M. E. church yesterday. All united in attesting their joy at burial of strife and dissension, symbolized by the service. The split in Methodism dates back to 1844, when a southern bishop did not see his way to liberate his slaves at the behest of the general conference.

A Sailor's Double Crime.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Fritz Nolte, a sailor, 40 years old, visited a family named Freund in Brooklyn and shot Clara Freund, aged 14, in the neck. He then killed himself. The girl is fatally wounded. His object was to prevent the girl revealing the fact that he had attempted to assault her.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

The Republicans Should Elect Miss Keyes as They Have Not Denied Her Competency.

The school board last night had another tussle on the election of principal of the training school. The republicans did not bring up the matter as they have expressed their willingness to let it rest as it is, but they are not ready to elect Miss Keyes as permanent principal. If the republicans cannot show that Miss Keyes is unqualified for the place, they have a right to vote for her. They have made no specific argument against her on the ground of inefficiency and their refusal to vote for her is, therefore, to say the least, suspicious.

If Miss Keyes is qualified for the position she should have it without reserve; if she is not qualified she should not be retained even temporarily, because the people want none but qualified teachers. If she was incompetent would the republicans elect her temporarily?

The republicans have not shown that she is disqualified, and on these grounds as well as upon the claims of the democrats in her behalf, it is fair to assume that she is qualified for the position and should be elected permanently.

The republicans can set themselves right at the next meeting by electing her permanent principal.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

The remains of Ethel M. Thompson arrived in this city yesterday from Charlestown and were interred in the Edson cemetery.

The body of George W. Beard was brought to this city from Chelsea this morning. The funeral occurred this afternoon and the remains were interred in the Edson cemetery. Services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Ramsden.

The funeral of the late Mary Ann Maguire took place this morning from her late home, 43 Abbott street, and was very largely attended. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church where a high mass of requiem was offered up for the repose of the soul of the deceased. Rev. Fr. McManus was celebrant, and T. F. Molloy directed the choir. The remains were enclosed in a beautiful black broadcloth casket. There were many beautiful floral offerings received from friends and relatives of the deceased. The bearers were: Timothy O'Dwyer, David Hogan, Martin Meagher, Bartholomew Ryan, Bartholomew Kane and Thomas Coleman. At the conclusion of the mass the cortege which was made up of a number of carriages proceeded to the Catholic cemetery, where the interment took place, the committal service being read by Rev. Fr. McManus.

OUR THEATRES.

BIJOU THEATRE.—"A Busy Day," presented by Mary Crandall and a clever company furnishes the amusement at the Bijou this week, and judging by the way the week opened there will be lots of fun. The play is a farce comedy, with just enough of a plot to bring it together, and fairly alive with bright songs and clever dances, abounding in the most ludicrous situations. It is designed wholly to create amusement, and is an entire success. The company is a very good one indeed, and is headed by Harry Crandall, the famous German dialect comedian, playing the part of "Peter Schultz" to perfection. Of the remainder of the company Miss Clara Pryce is a dashing and vivacious little woman whom the part of "Gracie Taffy" fits admirably. Frank Walsh is all right as "Dennis O'Rafferty." Frank Weinmann is very good as "O. B. Gord," Francis E. Fahey makes an excellent "Ups and Downs," and G. H. Atwood is a very clever "Baiof Clay." A good burlesque on the opera "Falka" is given in addition and its bright tunes help the fun along. Every night this week with the usual matinees.

MUSIC HALL.—Tonight and during the remainder of the week, the stage of this popular theater will be occupied by the popular little favorite Miss Susie Howard. This will be the little lady's first appearance here in three years. She will be seen in the same play which has delighted Lowell as well as all of the large city audiences entitled "Nell the Waif." The company is a competent one. During the unravelling of the plot Miss Howard plays no less than six distinct characters—three boys and three girls—while the situations are quite startling. The piece abounds in specialties and side splitting comedy. Messrs. Thomas and Watson announce these offers this week on Tuesday and Friday evenings: Everyone holding a thirty cent seat will be presented with a cabinet photograph of Miss Eva Williams. On Thursday evening, Saturday matinee and evening the fortunate lady occupying a thirty cent seat will be presented with a new dress worth $20, made to order by the dressmakers' league.

OPERA HOUSE.—The play of Ole Olson billed for tonight possesses so many attractive features that it is well worth seeing. The singing and dancing are way above par, and Lottie Williams who plays Genie is a charming soubrette. Olaf Olsen who is with Ole is 28 years of age, weighs 48 pounds and is 38 inches in height.

FIRST COUNT

Only This to be Considered by the Jury.

GARVEY'S TRIAL NOW IN HANDS OF THE JURY.

Shea's Sentence for Repeating Holds Good.

The evidence in the Garvey case is all in and today arguments were made by the counsel for Mr. Garvey and by Mr. Weir for the government. Owing to the great number of law points involved and the objections raised and exceptions taken throughout the trial it is not probable that the case will be fully decided today.

The defence is very confident that the government's case is weak but should the adverse decision be rendered the case will be stubbornly fought in the Supreme court on questions of law.

Patrick H. Barry was called. He lived on Suffolk street. He didn't see Donaghue in May 1892, but saw him on the third of May, '93, having had a business transaction with him of which he made a note. He did not know where Donaghue lived at the time.

Garvey Testifies.

Michael J. Garvey, the defendant was the next witness. He testified that he was born in Lowell and had lived here all his life. He was an assistant assessor in 1891-'92. He began to make his guide book in January taking copies of the streets, and property and polls assessed the year previous. He made his rounds and after that other names were added to the assessment books. After going his outside rounds he made up his record and finished it about June 9. After that he had nothing to do, and he went to Chicago where he remained a week. He came back and was down with malarial fever, and was in bed eight week. When he went back to work it was time to consider the tax bills.

Witness never touched the valuation books after July.

He knew Mr. and Mrs. Donaghue but did not know they lived in Bennett's court. He knew Thomas Donaghue as Charles Donaghue's son but did not know his given name. He never heard of Bennett's until the case was called.

Mr. Garvey then explained how he came to be at city hall on October 26. He couldn't remember the names of any persons whom he had dealings with that day. He had no recollection of the proceedings which were testified to by Mr. Hawes. Nor did he recollect going down to the registrars' office with the man described. Witness was shown the paper with the signature of Donaghue on it, and he had a faint recollection of the occasion when it was written, but did not remember going into the office with the man who wrote it.

Witness had nothing to do with putting names on the registrars' list.

He knew nothing of Donaghue's name being on the list until the young man's father told him that Thomas was out of town. When he heard this he made a minute of it and when he had a chance challenged his name.

Witness met Mr. Donaghue on another occasion and told him that he was going to challenge the boy's name. Donaghue smiled and told him there was going to be trouble over the matter and intimated that George Lawton was after him.

He replied to Mr. Donaghue that he had nothing to do with putting on his son's name.

Mr. Weir began the cross-examination by finding out how much campaigning he had done.

Witness said he had sometimes assisted his friends in their campaigns. He never got the names of newly registered each evening. He often inquired the number of clearly registered voters.

Mr. Garvey then explained the business he had been in, the manner of conducting campaigns, and his acquaintance in the ward.

Witness never called young Donaghue by the name of "Tom."

The attention of the witness was then taken up by the valuation book. He recognized his handwriting, and identified the the writing "Thomas F. Donaghue, 15 Bennett's court," on one of the pages; Marion street was added, but witness said the addition was not his writing.

He did not know Donaghue had two sons until one night he met Mr. Donaghue and his younger sons in the assessor's office.

He wanted to have the young man registered, but Mr. Donaghue objected. Witness could not remember what else Mr. Donaghue said to him.

Witness was asked to give a case where he had brought a man to be registered and was told to take him away, and cited as an instance the case of a drunken man.

Mr. Weir then asked a number of question about cases, shady attempts at registration, with which he tried to connect Mr. Garvey, and the latter answered them all clearly showing himself to be innocent of any "crooked" business.

The witness then spoke about Bennett's court which he said he never heard of until the case came up.

The cross examination at this point drifted into an argument regarding the conversations which witness had with Mr. Charles Donaghue.

Witness couldn't say whether or not the name of Thomas F. Donaghue was on the registered list for 1892, but he did know it was on there in 1893.

After a recess Mr. Garvey took the stand again and in reply to a question said that he knew that October 26th was a large day for registration as he looked it up.

Witness said he did not distribute tax bills in 1892 but he did in 1891. He was then shown the tax bills of Charles A. Donaghue for the year of 1891 and he said he might have seen them. He did not distribute them as they belonged in precinct two and he distributed in precinct one. Mr. Weir offered the bills as evidence to show that the place was known as Bennett's court.

The bills were withdrawn by Mr. Weir after a short discussion as to whether or not they were material.

Other Witnesses.

William V. Meado testified that he was at city hall last fall for the purpose of showing candidates for registration where to go and what to do.

On Oct. 26, while he was looking for some men, a young man came up to him and said:

"Where can I get my name on the list?"

Witness responded: "Down stairs, what's your name?"

"Donaghue," replied the young man.

Witness took him to Mr. Garvey.

When the complaint against that name was made, witness remembered the occasion and said to Garvey:

"There's the name of the man that I brought to you."

Witness has known Mr. Garvey eight or ten years. He worked on registration and naturalization for the past three or four years.

A number of unimportant questions were answered by the witness.

The Government Again.

The defence rested here and the government recalled Simon B. Harris to the stand. He was asked regarding the conversation to which Senator Brady testified, and Simon replied: "I never spoke to that man in my life."

Hawes Once More.

Mr. Hawes was called for the third time, and he could not remember any conversation in which Messrs. Garvey and Harris were participants.

City Clerk Dowd was also recalled, and he testified that 41 persons passed the registrars to have their names put on the voting list on the afternoon of October 26.

George A. Locke, assistant assessor of Ward Two, was called to testify what he knew about the Garvey-Harris conversation.

Witness said Garvey came in and spoke vulgar language. Witness asked him if he was addressing him, and Garvey said "No I'm addressing Mr. Harris."

Witness then said: "Mr. Harris was not there at the time."

City Clerk Dowd was then instructed to find out when John H. Donaghue of 9 Lagrange street was registered.

The Defendant.

Garvey took the stand again and said that the talk which he had with Mr. Harris was after he had gone into the room. He said that he went in there to assert his rights and not to allow men to be bulldozed by Mr. Harris.

Judge Lilley told Mr. Weir that if he thought it was so important that the residence should be proven to be Bennett's court, he would hear him, but he thought it was sufficient to prove a building known both to Mr. Hawes and the defendant.

The juries were then excused, and Mr. Weir continued discussing the matter. Mr. Burke claimed that 15 Bennett's court or the address is a part of the description of the man.

Lawyer Burke then considered the second count in the indictment. He said there was no rule of law tending to support it.

Bresnahan In Luck.

John F. Bresnahan in whose case of an alleged unnatural act, the jury disagreed, was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

Only One Count.

Mr. Burke's argument that "Bennett's court" figured in the case was successful as the third count in the indictment was quashed today. The case has gone to the jury on the first count, the second being not pressed.

This is a big victory for the defence.

Shea Sentenced.

Daniel F. Shea who appealed from a sentence of five months in the house of correction for voting on another man's name, pleaded guilty this morning. D. J. Donahue, Esq., argued for a lighter sentence but the court confirmed the sentence imposed in the lower court.

James McNulty, who appealed from sentence imposed in the police court, for disturbing the peace, pleaded guilty and was fined $10.

The Arguments Made.

The arguments on the strength of the third count in the indictment which related to the registrars were resumed.

Judge Lilley expressed his opinion of the matter very ably. He said that the proof in this count didn't support the allegation.

According to the statute if a man represents himself as some one else who is qualified to vote, he, not being qualified, he shall be punished. Then also if one man aids and abets another in representing himself as some one else he shall be punished.

"But," continued the court, "you charge Mr. Garvey with representing not himself but some one else as being another person."

Mr. Wier then was heard on the subject. He took the ground that in misdemeanors an accessory may be considered as a principal, and maintained that if Mr. Garvey who was present with the man made false representations concerning that man's name, the other man allowed him to do so and was an accessory to the crime, or vice versa.

Mr. Wier claimed that in a misdemeanor the acts of one are the acts of all.

"It Is No Offence,"

said Judge Lilley, "for a man to go before the registrars and falsely represent some one else, but it is an offence for him to go before them and falsely represent himself.

"I will submit the first count to the jury with instructions concerning Bennett's court. Until last night, when I looked into the third count with great care I was inclined to think that Mr. Burke's contention was not well grounded, but since then I have changed my opinion, and I think the case ought to be submitted to the jury on

The First Count Alone.

"Any false representation to an official would be wrong, morally," said His Honor, in explanation of what he had said of the matter as above.

Mr. Burke's Argument.

At twenty minutes to eleven o'clock, or thereabouts, Mr. Burke began his argument for the defendant. He began very calmly and in a tone of voice which increased in volume as he went along.

After remarking on the great misfortune which a trial is to a man either innocent or guilty, Mr. Burke explained the nature of the complaint and informed the jury that they must find that Mr. Garvey knew in his heart that he was a party to a fraud at the time when he appeared before the assessors, before they can find him guilty.

He then took up the evidence as given, and laid stress upon the fact that the government failed to offer any evidence to show that Garvey knew the man who represented himself as Thomas F. Donaghue or that he knew Thomas F. Donaghue so well that when he heard the name called he knew at once that he was not Thomas F. Donaghue.

Not a scintilla of evidence had been introduced on this point. They should also have shown that Mr. Garvey and Mr. Hawes had an understanding regarding the house at what was called 15 Bennett's court.

In the matter of the identity of Bennett's court he claimed that outside of the assessor's office it was not known by that name. The testimony of Charles F. Donaghue who said he lived at 15 Marion Street was a proof that the son did not live at 15 Bennett's court.

The argument consumed over an hour, and was listened to with rapt attention by all present, especially that part which referred to the redoubtable Simon B. Harris which was substantially as follows: "Mr. Harris said that when he asked the unknown what name he was giving, in the registrars office, the latter turned around and appeared excited. Who wouldn't appear excited at being called upon to face Simon B. Harris knowing who he was. I would want no better evidence that the man was not a resident of Lowell than to have him face this expolice office of Dracut without trembling. Why Simon was brought over to Dracut as a scarecrow for the farmers. He frightened them so that they didn't keep him. Why when Simon in his war paint, and with his battle axe on his shoulder crossed the Central bridge and put his foot inside the limits of Dracut, the earth trembled for miles around. If you were to wake up a quiet farmer of Dracut in the middle of the night he would throw up his hands and cry "O Simon don't kill me."

Continuing, Mr. Burke said: "Mr. Harris and Mr. Garvey had some difficulty. Garvey crossed Simon's path and he must die. So Harris went to Boston, and here and there among the witnesses getting up the case, and interesting some of them in the court room not to get full.

"Even after this long and dreary trial when myself and the counsel for the government were tired out, Mr. Harris moved around between Mr. Lawton and Lawyer Wier rallying them up."

Mr. Burke concluded his remarks on Mr. Harris, insinuating that Mr. Harris was responsible in a great measure for this trial, due to bad feeling. He also poked sarcasm at Mr. Hawes.

The Government's Case.

Shortly after 1.20 o'clock Mr. Wier began his argument. He argued its importance as bearing on the purity of the ballot. He then reviewed the evidence presented, among other matters, showing that Mr. Hawes did his duty rightly and not as Mr. Burke insinuated.

Referring to the possible inquiry that might be made concerning the tardiness in prosecuting the case, he said that there should have been two defendants in the case, and the case was not called immediately because the government wished to catch the other man.

"Garvey," said Mr. Wier," is the political boss of Ward One."

"Harris is an honest man, also," said Mr. Wier, "and it is no reflection on his character if when he goes into Dracut all the criminals in the town tremble."

Mr. Wier reviewed the testimony of nearly every witness referring repeatedly to Mr. Garvey's influence in Ward One. He asked the jury to consider the fact that Mr. Garvey didn't take any steps to have the name of Thomas F. Donaghue stricken from the list until he found out that they were after him.

Referring to the unsatisfactory manner in which young Donaghue testified he said that Garvey's friends in Ward One sympathized with him whether or not he is guilty. Young Donaghue knows them all and he was afraid that if he testified strongly against Garvey those friends and neighbors who are also friends of Donaghue would be mad at him.

Substantially the government claimed that an offence was committed; that Garvey was present and that he knew he was doing wrong.

The argument lasted 50 minutes.

Judge Lilley gave the charge to the jury at the opening of court this afternoon and the jury retired.

GAVE THEM EVERYTHING.

PRESS BOWLERS ACT GENEROUSLY TO BOSTON BOWLERS.

The Herald Sent Its Representative Team Up and It Was Warmly Received and Entertained Throughout a Friendly Meeting.

The crack bowlers of the brilliant journal of the Hub—the Herald—paid their first visit to the Spindle city yesterday. They came, not to inspect cotton mills or to admire the good looks of the mill girls; they came with blood in their eye to show the world that Lowell is not the only place on the universe where bowlers are raised and where the game is brought up to its highest standard. The Herald team was the very strongest which could be picked up among 500 odd attaches of the staff and office. It was a corking team headed by that stalwart and brainy advertising man, Jim Rice, and backed by the best bowling critic in New England, Mr. Lemon, the bowling editor.

The team and a good force of "rooters" came up on invitation of five Lowell newspaper men, who of late have bowled considerably in local tournaments.

The team, individually, was more than ordinarily strong, but through the uncertainty of the sport it dropped a game to the visitors with such a dull thud which is yet sounding up and down the town.

The Lowell Press team magnanimously presented the game to the visitors, on the principle that Jim Rice would have gone home broken hearted, and the Harmony quartet (which is a feature of the social side of the Herald office) would have disbanded on the spot.

The visitors were coaxed along all the time to put up a heavy score; the Lowell boys reserved their strength to the last, to show a genuine Lowell finish. It came very near being realized for in the eighth frame of the third string the Lowell team had overcome the existing lead of 51 pins, and forged ahead. The strikes and spares which had previously been bottled for the ninth and tenth frames failed to show up, however, and when five breaks in succession filled out the tenth box, against spares on the part of the visitors the folly of dilatory tactics was seen, and the Herald men went home flushed with a victory of 23 pins.

The visitors came up on the 3 p. m. train. They were taken to Les Miserables alleys where a large crowd awaited the match. After a short rest and refreshment the game commenced with Hon. C. D. Palmer referee for Lowell and Mr. Randall for Boston.

Of all the games bowled in Lowell or elsewhere none equalled for excitement, enthusiasm, ear splitting noises and uproar than the two opening strings. The "rooters" were supplied with big horns and rattles, and applause was given without discrimination or reserve, in fact the falling of pins could not be heard for the racket. Walter W. Johnson of the Merchants bank scored for Lowell. When "Chub" Lane appeared for the home team as a mascot the uproar was redoubled.

Of the Lowell men four did fair work while the fifth, Myers, couldn't bowl a little bit, his score being the lowest he had ever bowled. To all the Lowell men there was more than their share of hard luck in breaks and missed spares while the visitors seemed to put up a strong front. Under ordinary circumstances the Lowell men ought to have dug a grave for the visitors but Dame Fortune said "not this time."

After the game and the visitors had been congratulated, the entire party repaired to the D. L. Page company where dinner was served. Later in the evening the rooms of the Press club were thrown open and the club extended its hospitality.

A very pleasant social hour was spent, and when it came train time the visitors were escorted to the depot to the tune of "The man who broke the bank." The flank of the marching column was reinforced by a hundred urchins who sized up the party as an out-of-town delegation of the Salvation army, and Mr. Patterson, who led the way, as a rival of Joe the Turk.

After cheers for the Herald and its crack bowlers, the visitors returned the compliment and the train pulled out of the station. The whole affair was informally gotten up and passed off very successfully.

In the junior contest at the Highland club last evening an exciting game was rolled by Teams Two and Six. The totals:

Team Two—Carter 307, Puffer 405, Webster 429, Pierce 385, Spafford 378; total 1904.

Team Six—Pierce 417, Hustwick 374, Whitford 382, Sargent 380, Falls 394; total 1935.

SCHOOL BOARD

It Transacted Important Business at Meeting.

DEADLOCK OVER TRAINING SCHOOL PRINCIPALSHIP.

City Council to be Asked for a New Bartlett School.

Before calling the meeting of the school board to order last evening Mayor Pickman requested that the members of the board be present as near the time appointed for the meeting as possible.

All members of the committee were present and the reading of the report of the previous meeting was dispensed with.

The military committee recommended that the battalion be allowed to go to Reading May 29.

The committee on penmanship and drawing recommended that certificates to teach penmanship be granted to Irving L. Hall and John J. Hunt. Both reports were accepted and certificates were granted to Messrs. Hunt and Hall.

Mr. Swapp for the committee on teachers and training school made the following recommendations which were adopted: that Miss Elizabeth A. Wilson be elected principal of the Dover street kindergarten; that Miss Sarah J. Sparks be chosen a teacher in the training school kindergarten, and that Miss Ellen Piper be transferred from the Pawtucketville to the Dover street kindergarten.

The rules were suspended and Miss Sparks was unanimously elected a teacher in the training school kindergarten.

The committee on teachers and training school also recommended that special certificate be granted to Miss Lizzie Emery, and that she be elected a teacher in the training school. There was some question as to the granting of the certificate to Miss Emery, but the motion passed.

On motion of Mr. Boulger, Miss Emery was confirmed as a temporary teacher at a salary of $800 per year.

James Mellen was granted a leave of absence as assistant teacher in the High school, and Mr. Harmon was appointed to take his place. Miss Bennett of the Highland school was also granted a leave of absence for the remainder of the term.

Supt. Whitcomb recommended that the board ask the city council to erect a new building on the site of the Bartlett school, another in Centralville, in the vicinity of the Hildreth cemetery, and another in Middlesex Village. Mr. Whitcomb was instructed to make the request of the city council.

Mr. Gallagher suggested that the superintendent take care that pupils in the kindergartens be not compelled to study so as to injure their delicate minds.

Mr. Coburn was granted permission to open a kindergarten in Pawtucketville.

The matter of teaching physical culture in the grammar schools was referred.

The mayor suggested that care be taken in the selection of teachers for the evening schools.

Mr. Coburn replied that hereafter the committee intended to adhere strictly to the rules relative to the matter.

Mr. Gallagher spoke of the objections likely to arise in the legislature as to the location of the normal school in this city. He suggested a rule, providing for the admission of normal school students and graduates to the training school.

On motion of Mr. Greene the rule was referred to the committee on teachers and training school.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Hall of Worcester for his address at the recent dedicatory exercises at the high school and it was decided to send him a check of $25.

Mr. Boulger moved that Miss Keyes be confirmed as principal of the training school, and spoke in support of his motion, citing the excellence of the work of Miss Keyes.

Dr. Lathrop spoke against the motion, and said he would vote for no one but a college graduate.

Mr. Boulger asked Dr. Lathrop if he was satisfied with Miss Dewey's work, but Dr. Lathrop declined to answer.

Mr. Harrigan moved as an amendment to Mr. Boulger's motion that Miss Keyes be transferred from the position of first assistant to that of principal of the training school.

Another amendment was offered that Miss Keyes be elected principal. Both amendments and the original motion were ruled out of order.

A lengthy discussion followed, relative to the ruling, it being claimed that Miss Keyes' case is similar to that of Miss Wilson, who obtained a transfer earlier in the evening. In the midst of the discussion Dr. Lathrop moved to adjourn, but the motion was defeated.

Mr. Swapp said there was no objection in Miss Wilson's case. In the present case there is objection.

The matter of the election of Miss Keyes was laid over till the next meeting.

Mayor Pickman said that the position of principal of the training school was a very important one, and he believed in getting the best person for the place. He believed Miss Keyes was an excellent teacher, but he also desired to get the best qualified person for the place.

Mr. Boulger reported for the committee appointed to consider the quality of water used for drinking purposes in the public schools.

The mayor and Dr. Lathrop were added to the committee, which was given full power.

A motion to ballot for assistant teacher of penmanship in the public schools was lost.

Mr. McNabb resigned the chairmanship of the manual training committee to Mr. Gallagher.

The board then adjourned.

IMPORTANT.

There are two important requisites for a daily paper: 1st, it should print the news while it is fresh; 2nd, it should be printed so that you can read it. Compare THE SUN with other local papers on these important points.

THERE SEEMS to be no change in the situation in Lawrence. Why cannot that Lawrence trouble be settled by arbitration?

IT HAS been eventually decided that the meetings of the Brockton school board will hereafter be public. Why they should be private is a mystery.

IT SEEMS that Mr. Hawes was considerably mixed in his answers on cross-examination in the Garvey case. Either his memory or his veracity is at fault.

TO-MORROW THE committee on education will report upon the normal school question. The case will be argued in the legislature if the report is unfavorable.

THE ALDERMEN are expected to pass that $50,000 loan tomorrow night. They were expected to do that several weeks ago but seemed to have no desire to aid the unemployed.

WHEN GARVEY'S case is over, the democrats may enter proceedings to show that a certain republican official obtained public office by corrupt methods, by a violation of the caucus law and by repeating.

BROCKTON is having a lively time settling the location of the new federal building. The question to be decided is whether it will be located where it will best accommodate the people or where it will be of most benefit to real estate owners.

MAYOR WHIPPLE of Brockton has a bill in the legislature relative to cider joints. They have become numerous in that city and a drink of the cider they furnish, it is alleged, is worse than the rat-gut whiskey sold in other prohibition cities.

THE CELEBRATION of Emmet's day as carried out under the auspices of the Celtic and Emerald Associates, was well calculated to keep alive the true spirit of Irish patriotism in the hearts of Irish citizens. The observance of Emmet's birthday cannot fail to promote love of country even here, not devotion to the Irish cause so much as love of this grand republic in which the principles for which Emmet died have long since triumphed and have been embodied in the grandest constitution ever framed for any nation. It is an indication of the total absence of religious hate in the Irish heart to find that the Irish revere the name of Emmet, though a Protestant, as they revere no other name.

THE LIQUOR LAWS.

The question of changing the liquor laws is in a state of chaotic uncertainty in the legislature. There is a large section of the delegates in favor of removing the license limit and leaving to the cities and towns the matter of fixing the fees for the various kind of licenses. Applicants for licenses are in the greatest perplexity at the present time and the fact that a commission appointed under Gov. Russell to report upon the Swedish system has recommended its adoption, does not simplify matters. This system provides for corporations to be formed in cities and towns to have the licenses for the sale of about 6 per cent. on the capital stock shall be applied for the benefit of the public to works of utility or improvements as specified in the law. The corporate bodies getting a license must give bonds for the legal conduct of the business. No stockholder in the company can receive a higher profit than five per cent. par value of his shares. The law if passed will be subject to local option as is the present law.

The license under the Norwegian system if adopted will be as follows:

First class—To sell liquors of any kind to be drunk on the premises.

Second class—To sell liquors of any kind, in quantities of less than 50 gallons, not to be drunk on the premises.

Third class—To sell distilled liquors of any kind, but only in quantities of 50 gallons or more, not to be drunk on the premises.

Fourth class—To sell malt liquors of any kind, but only in quantities of 50 gallons or more, not to be drunk on the premises.

Fifth class—Licenses to clubs, as now provided by law.

Sixth class—Licenses to druggists and to apothecaries, as now provided by law, except that sales of intoxicating liquors of any kind by retail druggists and apothecaries for medicinal purposes shall be made only upon the prescription of a physician.

The fees for licenses granted under the provisions of this act shall be as follows:

For a license of the first class, not less than $1000 nor more than $2000; for a license of the second class, not less than $500 nor more than $1000; for a license of the third class, not less than $700 nor more than $1000; for a license of the fourth class, not less than $500 nor more than $1000; for a license of the fifth class, not less than $50 nor more than $300; for a license of the sixth class, $1.

Nothing in the act shall be construed to affect existing laws regulating the granting of licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors in city or town voting to grant such licenses, and in which no corporation shall be established to take the same as herein provided.

Were this system adopted there would be no wrangling about licenses and the liquor business would no longer corrupt politics. But the republicans, although a majority in both branches of the legislature, are not likely to abandon the present system on account of the power it places in their hands to demoralize and defeat their opponents.

CAUSES OF RAILROAD FATALITIES.

The frequency of accidents on railroad crossings and railway tracks where there are no crossings seems to demand a speedy remedy. The question of abolishing grade crossings has been under discussion for a long time but as yet nothing has been done in this vicinity. It is time that decisive measures were adopted to get rid of the danger to public travel so disastrous in its fatalities. Another cause of frequent railroad accidents is the habit of walking on railroad tracks. This in England and other countries is made an offense punishable by a fine or imprisonment. It seems that nowhere is such a law more necessary than in this country because a great many people everywhere are accustomed to take to the railroad track whenever it affords them a shorter way to their destination. They do this at their own risk but in many cases they do not know the risk and they in consequence fall victims to accidents such as that in which an unknown man was cut in two on Western avenue yesterday. To save hundreds of lives annually in this state alone let grade crossings be abolished and let it be made a punishable offense to walk upon a railroad track.

CURRENT CLIPPINGS.

They Wanted Willie.

Relatives of the old fashioned sort are sad disturbers of the dignity of the rising generation, especially when they trot out pet names in public, as all fond parents of the old fashioned sort invariably insist on doing. It's a difficult thing for a parent to realize, anyway, that his child has grown up.

There is a young man in a position of great trust in one of the largest mercantile establishments of this town. He came from the country originally, but would rather have that forgotten. Yesterday a little old man entered the counting room. He was done up in about five lengths of red and yellow scarf and gave other evidences of hailing from the latitude of Johnson's crook or Findley's lake.

"Is Willie in?" he asked the clerk at the counter.

"Willie? Who's Willie?" questioned the puzzled youth.

"Why, our Willie. He's clerkin it here, ain't he?"

The young man was about to reply that Willie was not on his visiting list when the stately gentleman who is known to the head of the firm as "William," to the cashier and the principal bookkeeper as "Will," and to the other employees as "Mr. Jones," with the accent on the "Mr.," came forward and greeted the visitor as "father." But he will never again be called any name in that establishment, even by the smallest office boy, except "Willie."—Buffalo Express.

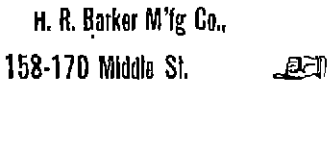

Strange Coincidence.

"—!—!—!" exclaimed the man as he fell into an open coal hole.

"That's strange," remarked a bystander.

"What's strange?" snorted the man as he climbed out.

"You're the twentieth man who's fallen in there this morning, and they've all made the same remarks."—Hallo.

He Could Have It.

Occasionally there comes a reminiscence of the runaway darky which shows not only his humor, but his irrepressible longing for the boon of freedom. Before the war there came into the public room of a hotel in Canada, near the frontier, one day, a bright looking negro.

"I s'pose you're a runaway slave," said one of the men in the room, looking sharply at the newcomer. Feeling that he was pretty well away from bondage, the darky responded in the affirmative.

"Well, we're glad enough that you've got away, but you don't seem to look very poor. Have good clothes down south?"

"Suttingly, sah, same clothes as my massa."

"But you got a good many thrashings, eh?"

"Nebber had a whipping in my life, sah."

"Never thrashed! Well, but I suppose you don't always get enough to eat, do you?"

"Always had enough, geemun—nebber went hungry."

"What?" said the persistent interrogator. "Good clothes, no punishment, plenty to eat. Now, just think of it," he said, addressing a group of loungers. "This fellow has left a position where he enjoys all these privileges for an uncertainty."

"Geemun," replied the darky, "all I'se got to say respectin dem privileges is dat if any one ob you wants to avail hisself ob 'em de situation am still open!"—Youth's Companion.

A WORD TO MOTHERS, A CHILD SAVED.

This certifies that DR. WILSON has restored my child to perfect health after all other doctors had failed. Some said it was suffering from its teeth, others said it could not live. It was failing all the time and was restless. No one knew what ailed the child, but said it could not be cured. At length one of Dr. Wilson's patients advised me to consult him. He understood and explained every ailment. With his peculiar method of diagnosing nothing is hid. He saw the child was suffering from a combination of difficulties, torpidity of the liver, chronic constipation and general phthisis. He said he could cure it, and he has been as good as his word. The child is now in the best of health. I would advise all mothers to take their children to DR. WILSON if they wish to save them. His skill has proved to be second to none.

With a mother's gratitude and many thanks to DR. WILSON,

PARLIAMENT

Kimberley Succeeds New Prime Minister.

MORLEY REMAINS CHIEF SECRETARY FOR IRELAND.

Radicals Greatly Displeased With the Queen's Action.

LONDON, March 6.—The Standard makes the following official announcement: The Earl of Kimberley will resume the foreign portfolio; Henry Fowler, the Indian portfolio; and T. E. Ellis, now a lord of the treasury, will become patronage secretary to the treasury, succeeding Mr. Majoribanks, the Liberal "whip."

The appointment of Mr. Fowler, who is now president of the local government board, is a surprise, but it is regarded as a good one, as he is well informed upon the financial questions and difficulties of India.

John Morley has consented to retain his portfolio as chief secretary for Ireland, at the urgent request of Lord Rosebery and others of his colleagues. Lord Rosebery has called a meeting of his party to be held at the foreign office on Monday next.

Upon the recommendation of Mr. Gladstone, the queen has raised Stuart Rendel, member of parliament, to the peerage.

Sir Reginald Earl Welby, C. G. B., permanent secretary of the treasury, has, upon the recommendation of Mr. Gladstone, been raised to the peerage.

Sir Algernon West, upon the recommendation of Mr. Gladstone, has been appointed a privy councillor, and Chairman Cowan of the Midlothian Liberal association has been made a baronet.

Finally, the queen, upon the recommendation of Mr. Gladstone, has made George W. Spencer Lyttleton and George H. Murray (Mr. Gladstone's secretaries) companions of the bath.

Plain Talk.

At the annual meeting last evening of the council of the London Liberal Radical union James Stuart, M. P., a Radical and Home Ruler, proposed a resolution of regret at the resignation of Mr. Gladstone, and expressing congratulation to Lord Rosebery and Sir William Harcourt, and setting forth that it was the belief of the union that they would faithfully endeavor to carry out the Newcastle program, and give prompt effect to Mr. Gladstone's declaration of war against the house of lords.

George Howell, M. P., an advanced Liberal, in favor of home rule, seconded the resolution, but he said he did so with regret, because he thought with others that Mr. Gladstone had been hounded out of political life. Mr. Howell said it was useless to disguise matters, but the supposition was that the old lady of Windsor and some of his own colleagues had not been as strong as they might have been in keeping the Grand Old Man at his post. The Liberal Radical party would suffer by his desertion or resignation. They ought to bear that in mind when discussing the claims of rival candidates for the premiership.

Another speaker declared that the queen had influenced Mr. Gladstone to retire, because she wanted Lord Rosebery to be premier before he married a princess, this being a reference to the rumor circulated some time ago that Lord Rosebery would marry a daughter of the Prince of Wales.

The resolution of Mr. Stuart was then adopted.

No Thanks.

The Chronicle calls attention to this incident. One of the most significant events of Saturday may possibly have escaped public notice. On that day the great steward of our empire placed his resignation, after 60 years of service, in his royal mistress' hands. That resignation was recorded by the queen in the court circular, in the formal phrase habitual to the resignation of a prime minister. It was "graciously accepted."

There was not a line, not a syllable, of regret or thanks, and far less of personal sorrow than was expressed when Lord Salisbury, a statesman who, compared with Mr. Gladstone, is a mere youngling in the great business of government, relinquished office after vainly attempting to coerce Ireland. The queen notified the public of the fact of Lord Salisbury's resignation by stating that she accepted that resignation with much regret.

Her majesty, we gather, does not view with regret the departure from her council of the mightiest of living Englishmen, the heroic figure of his age and the statesman of whom our children's children will speak when we are in the dust, and there would be, we suggest, reasons above all others why the nation expected some touch of personal feeling from the queen when she bade farewell to her illustrious servant.

He alone of all others has been the safeguard of the English monarchy and its preserver at once against its unwise friends and open foes. Again and again has Mr. Gladstone held the bridge against Radicals when the smallest outwork of privilege or endowment attached to the royal house was attacked, and now he goes, this mightiest of all figures of the Victorian age, unthanked and dismissed with the phrase that covered the retreat of the feeblest of his predecessors.

The Thunderer's Comment.

Commenting upon the new peers, The Times says: What a grimly ironic destiny seems to dog the footsteps of Mr. Gladstone's recent policy. Not only is the new premier acclaimed with unanimity by the party and is a member of the chamber which the retiring chief denounced in his farewell oration, but what is more singular, Lord Rosebery never sat in the house of commons. At the same time the "whip" on whom the government relied to keep its motley party together has been called to the house of lords, while to cap the climax of incongruity Mr. Gladstone's latest official act is to add two new hereditary legislators to the upper house. The article predicts that Lord Rosebery will hold the party together only a short time.

The Daily News writes a eulogy of John Morley, who, it says, for the sake of Ireland, has consented to sacrifice himself.

An Order of Much Benefit to Both Shippers and Shipowners.

WASHINGTON, March 6. — Assistant Secretary Hamlin has issued a circular of great importance to shipowners, extending the "Lay order" privilege. Hitherto vessels in the foreign trade arriving in harbors late in the afternoon have been compelled to wait until 9 o'clock the next morning, when the customs office opens for business, to receive their permit to unload, and when arriving even as early as 1 o'clock on Saturday afternoon they have been compelled to wait until the following Monday morning.

Under the new regulation the agents or owners of any steamship may in advance of the arrival of such steamship apply to the collector of the port for permission to unload such vessel immediately on her arrival. Any cargo discharged under this application must remain upon the wharf until removed in conformity with the terms of the regular general order to be issued after the completion of the entry at the house, and the cargo, during the time it is on the wharf, is to lie at the owner's risk.

The vessel owners are also required to execute a bond in the sum of $100,000, to indemnify the collector for any losses and liabilities which may be occasioned by the unloading of the vessel in advance of issuance of the general permit. The unloading is to be done in the presence of an inspector of customs.

FATALLY WOUNDED.

A Tough Character Assaults a Farmer at North Stonington, R. I.

NEW LONDON, Conn., March 6. — Ezekiel C. Turner, a farmer residing in North Stonington, was shot and mortally wounded by Michael McGowan, who entered Turner's house and demanded a drink of cider. He was refused by Turner, and when he attempted to assault him Turner went into an adjoining room for a gun.

After a hard tussel, the roughs managed to wrest the gun away from the farmer, and in the sight of the former's wife, McGowan pulled the trigger and delivered all the shot into the farmer's abdomen. Turner sank to the floor with the blood gushing from the wounds. As soon as he realized what he had done, McGowan and his companion named Donaghue fled. They were both arrested and held. Turner will not recover. McGowan belongs in Pawtucket, R. I., and has borne a hard reputation.

A Close Contest.

NEW LONDON, Conn., March 6.—Two of the largest vessels in the coastwise fleet had an exciting race from Philadelphia to this port. They were the Mary A. Randall and the Stella B. Caplin. The race was to test the merits of the keel and centerboard built vessels, and the Randall, a centerboard vessel, reached this port about 10 minutes in the lead.

Election Day In Iowa.

DES MOINES, March 6.—Municipal elections were held in a number of cities throughout Iowa yesterday. The Republicans made gains in several cities that have been steadily Republican, and some others gained slightly in councilmen. The question of modifying the present prohibition law does not seem to have played a part.

Advice to Miners.

MASSILLON, O., March 6.—The national executive board of the United Mine Workers of America have issued a circular calling upon all miners now on strike to so adjust matters in dispute that they may return to work, to the end that all may be prepared to eventually strike together for higher wages.

IN COURT

The Legality of Leicester Elections Questioned.

ELECTION DAY IN MANY MAINE CITIES.

The Majority Still With the Republican Party.

BOSTON, March 6.—The annual meetings in Massachusetts towns were held yesterday. Some were quiet as a lamb, while others resembled more the lion.

At Dedham it was the most exciting in the history of the town. The great fight was over the license question. Mrs. Anna E. Ely was a successful candidate for the board of overseers, being the first woman ever elected to such a position in the town.

At Hingham the townspeople turned out in full force.

The discussion at Middleboro was the most heated of any, and arose, as might have been expected, from the recent attack upon the town. When the question of town history was brought up it called forth many caustic words. One indignant citizen said that he hoped that it would be written by one who had breathed New England air more than six months.

There has not been such a vote cast before in the past 20 years in Danvers.

A Hitch at Leicester.

WORCESTER, Mass., March 6.—The legality of the votes taken at the town meeting in Leicester yesterday is to be tested in court by John McTammany, inventor of the ballot machine, which is authorized by the statutes for use in town meetings. At a town meeting last December it was voted to authorize the selectmen to procure the McTammany machines for the annual meeting.

The committee on election laws of the legislature came up from Boston to see the machines work, but were disappointed, as only 28 of the more than 500 votes cast were put in the machine. The opposition was led by A. E. Smith and William Bell, against whom McTammany threatens criminal proceedings for interfering with and intimidating voters. McTammany claims that the votes not cast in his machine are not legal, because the town has voted to use the machine and under the statutes is obliged to use it.

THE PINE TREE STATE

BATH, Me., March 6.—James W. Wakefield (Rep.) was elected mayor with six aldermen and 17 councilmen. But one Citizen alderman and four Citizen councilmen were elected.

EASTPORT, Me., March 6.—Charles A. Hume, Republican, was elected mayor. The Republicans also elected board of aldermen, and the remainder of their ticket.

Starved to Death.

NEW YORK, March 6.—A Herald special from Paris says Miss Ida Van Etten, the American writer, died from starvation.

DOINGS IN CONGRESS.

NO BUSINESS OF IMPORTANCE IN EITHER BRANCH.

Senator Morgan Offers a Resolution for a Tariff Commission as an Amendment to the Wilson Bill—Pension Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The senate held a short session and but little business of importance was transacted. A brief debate on silver was precipitated by the intention expressed by the vice president to refer the Bland seigniorage bill (which had just been received from the house) to the finance committee. Mr. Stewart opposed this disposition of the bill and asked that it be allowed to lie on the table subject to being called up at any time. This was finally ordered. Mr. Stewart at the same time offered a free silver amendment to the bill.

The only other event of interest was the offering by Mr. Morgan of a resolution looking to the appointment of tariff commission members, which he offered as an amendment to the tariff bill. A number of bills of importance were passed.

An executive session of a little more than an hour was held, and a number of nominations confirmed.

The debate on the pension appropriation bill continued all day in the house, and at this considerable spirit was displayed. The principal speakers were Messrs. Dolliver, Hepburn, Enloe and Cannon. It is expected that the debate will be concluded this evening.

Portland Sent Aid.

PORTLAND, Me., March 6.—Fire at Cape Elizabeth last evening burnt two buildings and destroyed $10,000 worth of property. The fire started from a bonfire in the street, celebrating the Republican victory. Cape Elizabeth has no fire apparatus, and only by the arrival of an engine from Portland was the loss of an entire street averted.

Much Good Has Been Done.

BOSTON, March 6.—The annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian association was held last evening. The secretary's report told of a noble work done among the young women of this city, and the treasurer's report emphasized the need of more money to carry on the good work.

Druggists Must Beware.

CHICAGO, March 6.—The Women's Christian Temperance union of this city has begun a crusade against druggists who indulge in the illegal sale of narcotics and stimulants of all descriptions.

THE CONVICTION

That the country has turned the corner in a business sense is gaining ground. In place of stagnation there is presented evidence of a slow but sure revival of business. Especially is this so in reference to the sales of ELLINGWOOD'S COUCH BALSAM, for, during the past month, we have sold (wholesale and retail) more of this great Lung remedy than in any preceding month in the cold season. If the remedy did not possess actual merit and perform remarkable cures this would not happen; but since it was first introduced a few years ago, "the wheels commenced to go round," and every day adds a new cure to the already long list of cures brought about by the trial of ONE single bottle, and invalids today are well and hopeful who, a short time ago, were despondent. If your lungs are congested try only one bottle. It will cure that troublesome, wheezing cough,

TOWN MEETINGS

Lively Ones at Dracut and Tewksbury.

FARMERS KICK OVER ITEMS IN THE WARRANTS.

But All Finally Agree on Town Officers.

Dracut went republican.

Dracut went for license.

Yesterday was town meeting day, and the townsmen turned out in force. One generally expects to be favored with a flood of eloquence at Dracut's town meeting, but yesterday the loquacious ones either stayed at home or got no chance to speak.

There were thirteen articles in the warrant, and the only one dismissed was article 12, which called for the establishment of a system of sewerage at the Navy Yard.

It is claimed that before money can be expended for a sewerage system an act of the legislature must be adopted.

The officers of the meeting were: Edward A. Stevens, moderator; Eben T. Fox and Daniel D. Fox, ballot clerks, Geo. F. Sparks and Clement A. Hamblett, tellers; Chas. H. Jacques, deputy ballot clerk.

The town lists of jurors were accepted as follows:

Frank L. Crosby, Bernice Parker, John C. Wiggin, Almon Richardson, Fred A. Fox, Wm. Tyrell, Jr., Granville Coburn, Joshua R. Milliken, Phineas Richardson, Charles Richardson, W. Peabody, Geo. R. Fox, Daniel D. Fox, Warren C. Hamblett, Simon E. Young, Thomas H. Connell Robert Mills, Wm. H. Upham, Michael Whelton, Roswell S. Fox, Edwin Hovey, Geo. W. Varnum, M. L. Bassett.

The appropriations were as follows—Schools, $6900; repairing highways, $8000; lighting streets, $500; current expenses, $4400; police, $300; new seats for schools Nos. 3 and 4, $300; removing ledge near George Kelley's, $200; widening stone bridge over Beaver brook, $600; music in public schools, $500.

It was voted to charge 6 per cent. interest on all taxes unpaid after Dec. 1, 1894, and to pay 1½ per cent. for collection.

The town report showed that the cost of running the several departments of the town last year was as follows:

Schools, $5101.80; repairing school houses, $843.30; transportation of scholars, $593.05; roads and bridges, $3418.70; widening Lakeview avenue; $7223.42, of which the railroad company paid $3989.92; town farm road, $200; Nashua road, $702.29; widening Mammoth road, $610.58; miscellaneous road expenses, $1088.92; out of $984.15 for lighting there is a balance of $454.55; out of $780.03 for police there is a balance of $381.58; new street lights $100; improving burying grounds, $276.35; miscellaneous expenses, $547.40; salaries, $1307.72; the relief of poor in almshouses cost $772 and out of door relief $304.81. Soldiers' relief, $85; state aid $100, military aid, $180.

Out of $17,590 80 for current expenses there is an unexpended balance of $8,718.41.

The taxes collected amounted to $17,630.69 and the balance uncollected Feb. 1 was $8,279.02.

The total indebtedness of the town Feb. 1 was $7,021.04; valuation of real estate, $4,407,050; personal, $212,258; total, $4,709,308.

The amount of taxes assessed was $18,702.03; including $28 in poll taxes. The rate of taxation $10.25 per $1000.

The election of town officers was very close and exciting. At 3.45 when the polls closed it was found that 408 names, out of a total registration of 472 had been voted upon.

Roswell S. Fox was the only candidate for treasurer and received every vote cast for that office—280.

For town clerk, Chas. E. McCarthy, dem., received 194 votes; Guyton M. Hall, rep., 102.

Oliver J. Coburn, Frank L. Hill and Charles E. Jones, reps., were elected selectmen, assessors and overseers of the poor, over John G. Hubbard, John T. Sparks and Michael Whelton democrats.

The three republican candidates, George B. Fox, Fred R. Hill and Edward A. Stevens were elected to the school committee, defeating the democratic candidates, Joseph E. Kennedy, George Otley and Clarence E. Wheeler.

Franklin P. Fox was the candidate of both parties for constable and collector of taxes, and was elected.

The contest for auditor was between Granville Coburn, rep., and John H. Ames, dem. The former received 194 to 181 for Ames.

The town voted in favor of license 186 to 171.

The other officers chosen were: Fire wardens, James Duffy, L. Stephen Collins, Geo. W. Ducey. Field drivers, Geo. F. Tucker, James Frye, Rockwood D. Coburn, Rockwood D. Snow, Prescott L. Jones, David D. Fox, Geo. W. Varnum, Geo. Otley, James M. Coburn.

Surveyors of lumber and measures of wood—Albert J. Jaquith, Charles L. Hodge, Edwin Hovey, Rockwood D. Coburn, Charles H. Dennison, Henry Varnum, Chas. E. Jones, E. A. Stevens.

Down In Tewksbury.

Tewksbury's town meeting was held yesterday, and was largely attended. Josiah Clark was almost unanimously chosen moderator. He has attended every town meeting for the past fifty years, with one exception.

Before the noon intermission the town officers were elected as follows: Selectmen, assessors and overseers of the poor, Frank H. Farmer, chairman; George E. Marshall, Frank A. Fitzgerald; town clerk, John H. Chandler; town treasurer, Frank H. Farmer; collector of taxes, Milton Austin; school committee, Albert S. Moore, chairman; Gideon H. Candee, secretary, J. F. French; trustees of the public library, J. C. Kittredge, Frank A. Fitzgerald, Helen Eastman, Rev. James Alexander, Albert J. Trull, Anna Coggin; superintendent of schools, Junius C. Knowlton; superintendent of streets, Porter Mears; auditor, William H. Lee.

Dinner was served at the Congregational church by the Ladies' aid society for which a vote of thanks was tendered them.

The usual town officers and committee reports were adopted with the exception of that of Enoch Foster, who reported on the condition of the Long fund.

Joshua Daniels urged the appointment of a committee to investigate the matter. A committee consisting of Messrs. Benjamin Spaulding, John Dane, John H. Chandler was appointed to look into the fund.

In the absence of Chairman Pickering of the high school committee the report was read by Enoch Foster. Mr. Daniels wanted to know if the building leaked. He was told it had been repaired. He then wished to know if the contractor hadn't failed and if the town was liable.

A short discussion followed after which Michael Smith arose and asked the gathering not to be dictated to by men who had no more brains than a Dublin dancing master.

Appropriations were then considered. It was voted to appropriate $6000 for incidentals and $8500 for highways. After a lively discussion it was voted that the town should not carry the school children from the east and south districts to the center school.

The appropriation of $7500 for schools and school houses was made almost unanimously.

The next business was to see if the town would vote to withdraw from its alliance with the towns of North Reading, Tyngsboro and Dracut, regarding the superintendency of schools, and vote to discontinue the employment of a superintendent for the schools of this town. After a lengthy discussion a ballot was taken as follows: Yeas 42, nays 120.

The treasurer was authorized to borrow on the town's credit, upon approval by the selectmen, $10,000.

The question of licenses resulted: yeas 8, nays 77.

It was voted to appropriate $75 for the observance of Decoration day.

An appropriation of $700 for a sewer was made.

The meeting then adjourned.

Tyngsboro Town Meetings.

The first town meeting at Tyngsboro dissolved after refusing to accept the report of the committee appointed Jan. 31. The second town meeting dissolved after refusing to place the school houses in the hands of a committee other than the school committee.

Strikes!

Strikes!!

Strikes!!!

Strikes bring joy to the bowler, but I fear distress to the thousands of operatives in Lawrence and Fall River.

Strikes are successful only with a rising market—never with a falling one. The present depressed condition of the markets and trade generally, should deter the operatives from striking against a reduction of wages. A reduction of wages is always to be deplored, but in the winter time what are the operatives to do but submit; a half loaf is better than none, but with the return of spring it is hoped there will be a revival of trade; let us hope the old schedule of wages will be restored and consequently everybody made happy.

In the meantime be of good cheer, keep good hours, spend much time at home; you are then away from temptation, and if you must have something to cheer you and the family, why send an order to John Warburton, Globe Hotel, for Port or Sherry Wine, 3 large bottles for $1. Whiskey for family use 75c. per bottle, 3 for $2.

Played With Cartridges.

Horace Nixon, clerk at McDonald's clothing store had a narrow escape from being struck by a 32 calibre bullet yesterday noon. He was going to dinner and when at the corner of Fletcher street and Broadway he heard a report as the electric car came along. A bullet whizzed by and another cut his trousers leg and embedded itself in the board fence. He examined the board fence to be certain it was a bullet and then he went to the car track where the report came from. There he found three 32 calibre cartridge shells, all battered out of shape. Mr. Nixon picked up the shells. Two boys placed them there he thinks as he saw boys leave the track before he reached the city carpenter shop. This was pretty risky fun.

Spiritualists Elect Officers.

The First Spiritualist society held its annual meeting last night in Post 185 hall. The treasurer, Amos Green, reported the receipts to have been $780.53, expenses $560.93, balance $225.60, of the expenses $372 35 were paid to mediums and $129 for hall rent.

The election of officers resulted: clerk, Edmund Pickup; treasurer and collector, Amos Green; assessors, Alden Frazier and E. C. Perkins.

The officers elected for the lyceum were: conductor, Miss Winona Day; assistant, Joseph O. Perkins; librarian, Mrs. Lucy Farrington; treasurer, Amos Green. The remaining officers were left to be chosen by the lyceum itself.

On the appointment of the prudential committee it was contended that the number had been increased in an illegal manner from 3 to 5 at a former meeting. The moderator ruled that as the article in the warrant called for five on the prudential committee five should be chosen and the ballot resulted in the election of James Coffin, David Whittaker, C. F. Hill, Miss Winona Day and Miss Florence F. Pickup.

WANT NO TROUBLE.

So They Will Give Up the Hall for April 5th.

The St. John's parish may be obliged to postpone their festival, announced for April 5th as it appears that another society demands the hall. A year ago this latter society re-engaged Huntington hall after an entertainment for Fast night of '91, but did not make a cash deposit as customary. When St. John's parish committee engaged the hall a few weeks ago nothing was said about its being engaged. They deposited $10 as the rule required and issued 1500 tickets. Now the society which claims to have hired the hall last year threatens to go to law to determine their right to the hall. The parish committee do not want to have legal trouble so will relinquish the claim to the hall. As a matter of fact it would appear to have the better right to the hall, and their $10 deposit would seem to determine it.

BAY STATE LEGISLATURE

DIVERSE OPINIONS IN REGARD TO THE UNEMPLOYED.

Labor Men Appear Before the Legislature—Bills in the Interest of Fraternal Organizations.

BOSTON, March 6.—The committee on unemployed gave a hearing in the chamber of the house of representatives on the problem of the unemployed and alleviating their distress.

State Organizer Pillar of the American Federation of Labor said that state farms and state factories are impracticable. Labor asked for shorter hours and a larger share of the product of their work.

He would suggest to meet the question at the present moment all the state work needed should be done at once, and done by the state, not by contract. The state should build a Cape Cod canal and operate it.

Another thing which should be done is to increase the school age of the child and take children out of the factories, where now they are allowed to compete with the father. He was opposed to a commission on the unemployed.

Morrison I. Swift read the document adopted by the unemployed. He suggested that garment making shops be opened.

Patrick O'Neil, who ran for governor on the Socialist labor ticket, said the duty of the state was to provide for the culture of the citizens.

The legislative committee on insurance considered two bills in the interests of fraternal beneficiary organizations. The first authorized the latter organizations to grant inducements to procure new members.

J. H. Butler appeared for the petitioners, requesting the passage of the bill. H. H. C. Miller advocated the measure. The Knights of Honor insisted that existing laws in the commonwealth are by far too stringent. The proposed change would assist their organization. Several witnesses favored the plan.

The committee then heard the second bill amending the law so that the death fund may be used for no other purpose than therein described, excepting for the payment of counsel witnesses and court fees incurred in contesting claims believed to be fraudulent. The hearing was then closed.

MORE DELAY

The Wilson Bill to Be Remodelled.

SOME HINTS WHICH HAVE PASSED UNHEEDED.

Debate Expected to Begin About March 19.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Senators Jones, McPherson and Vest continued their work on the Wilson bill at the Capitol until 10 o'clock last night, but did not get the bill in shape to suit them and stopped at that hour with the intention of resuming the work today. They announced at the conclusion of the meeting that the bill would not be in shape to be reported to the full committee today.

The senators had the clerk of the house ways and means committee with them during the meeting last evening, and it is understood that they went over many items of the bill, making careful comparisons of the changes with the house bill. It has been found that some of the amendments made do not concur with the main portions of the bill, and many corrections have been found necessary at the last hour. This work is consuming much of the time of the committee, as well as that which it is necessary to give to the fixing of rates on the disputed items.

On Saturday it was understood that all of the controverted articles except sugar had been agreed to and settled, but yesterday it was asserted that there is another hitch, and a recast has been ordered on several of the articles taken from the free list and put on the dutiable list. The demands of the conservative senators, the committee asserts, are unreasonable, and it is not disposed to accede to them.

Committee Won't Yield.

The committee does not believe there has been any combination of the dissatisfied senators to kill the bill in the event they fail to get all that they demand. The Louisiana senators, the committee asserts, have endeavored to create this impression. They do not believe that the senators who are urging coal and iron ore to be put on the dutiable list would vote against the bill if those two articles were to remain on the free list.

Holding this view, the committee is not disposed to yield to the demands of those senators who have given so much trouble. The committee is willing to yield a little for harmony's sake, but not beyond the line where the Democratic party can stand and maintain its tariff reform policy.

Assistant Secretary Hamlin was before the committee to discuss the administration features of the bill, which come within that part of the treasury work over which he presides.

Its Future.

The course of the bill in the senate will become a matter of interesting conjecture. When it is finally reported it will be sent to the calendar, pending the preparation of reports and of speeches. This will take at least 10 days, and according to the judgment of a Democratic senator, the bill can hardly be called up for the commencement of the general debate before Monday, the 19th instant. As soon as debate is begun, the majority will insist that the daily sessions be held from 12 to 6 o'clock.

"We are trying to report a bill that will bring to it the support of the entire party," said Senator McPherson, "but whether we shall be successful remains to be seen. We have and are encountering many obstacles."

ST. LOUIS, March 6.—The two great bodies of Methodism met in a joint love feast and communion at Union M. E. church yesterday.
